ESTABLISHED 1833. MONDAY EVENING, FORT WAYNE'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER JULY 3, 1911. 12 PAGES—ONE CENT.

SANE FOURTH IS SCHEDULE

How Fort Wayne Will Celebrate Anniversary Tomorrow.

W. C. T. U. PROGRAM AT SWINNEY PARK

Business Will Be Suspended—Picnic Gatherings at Many Points.

Fort Wayne's celebration of the nation's birthday anniversary tomorrow has been planned along the "safe and sane" lines that are coming into such general popular favor, and while the holiday will be widely observed, it will be unlike the old-time celebrations.

Young America will doubtless take the same old delight in fire crackers and other noise-making devices, but there has been an effort to eliminate the elements of danger that has heretofore harvested a heavy toll of injuries in the attempt to properly celebrate the holiday. Business houses will be closed and, while there will be many picnic gatherings, base ball, motorcycle races and other attractions, the principal celebration of the day will occur at Swinney park under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance union. Here the program is arranged closely along the "safe and sane" idea.

Swinney Park Program.

One of the speakers at Swinney park will be Senator S. B. Fleming, whose theme is "Advantages of the Proctor Law," and others include Dr. B. Von Sweringen, Hon. T. E. Ellison and Mrs. Florence Richards, Leipsic, O., an orator of national note in the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Richards follows Senator Fleming upon the program. The exercises throughout are of an interesting character and promise to attract a large crowd to the park. A. G. Burry will preside as chairman.

The program at the park begins at 10 o'clock with a selection by the band and the devotions led by Rev. C. D. Rarey, followed by the singing of "America," the leader being Prof. Wm. Miles. The address of the forenoon will be delivered by Rev. P. J. Alberthus.

Parade at 11 O'Clock

At 11 o'clock the Sunday schools will have a parade, after which an American flag will be awarded the Sunday school having the largest June enrollment. At 12 o'clock there will be a basket dinner and at 1 o'clock a drill by sixteen young ladies, after which the program of the afternoon will be carried out as follows:

Devotions—Rev. Dr. A. K. Zartman.
Song.
Address—"Necessity of a Safe and Sane Fourth"—Dr. Budd Von Sweringen.
Address—"Equal Suffrage in Municipal Affairs"—Hon. T. E. Ellison.
Selection by the band.
Address—"The Advantages of the New Proctor Law"—Senator S. B. Fleming.
Address—"The Future and What It Promises"—Mrs. Florence Richards, Leipsic, Ohio.
Selection by the band.

Many Athletic Events.

Following the afternoon program there will be a number of athletic events for boys and girls, under the direction of Prof. Henry Meyer, physical instructor of the city schools, and prizes will be given the winners. Among them are:

For Girls—40 yard dash for small girls; 50 yard dash for older girls; basket ball throwing for distance.

For Boys—40 yard dash for small boys; 50 yard dash for older boys; free-for-all sack race; free-for-all hopping race, etc.

Prof. William Miles, musical supervisor of the city schools, will be in charge of the music of the day.

Churches Hold Picnics.

The school society and the congregation of the Church of the Precious Blood will have a great Fourth of July event in the beautiful grove near to the church in the Bloomingdale district. A program of games and amusements has been arranged, the general chairman being William Brossard, jr. Booths have been erected on the grounds and the ladies will have refreshments for sale. Dinner will be served. The grove is the handsomest around the city and the picnic will undoubtedly attract there a great crowd.

The Emmaus Lutheran Sunday school and congregation will picnic in the grove on Fairfield avenue, near to the Packard Organ factory. The children will meet at the church at 9 o'clock in the forenoon and, headed by the City Packard band, will march to the grove. There will be all sorts of amusements to make the day pass pleasantly, athletic events being prominent. The dinner will be a basket one, but there will be stands where refreshments will be served by the ladies.

The St. Paul and Concordia Lutheran congregations will unite in a picnic at the Concordia college grounds. The Zion congregation will pass the day in the grove on South Hanna street, the children marching from the church at 8:30 o'clock, headed by the Arion band. At both picnics there will be amusements of various kinds for the children.

Other Events of Fourth.

Fort Wayne and Dayton will meet in base ball games both morning and afternoon, and in the afternoon motorcycle races are offered at the Swinging park. Robison park has scheduled a special program for the day and it will doubtless attract a very large crowd.

WILL GRANT NEW SEWERS

Northwest and Southeast Parts of City to Be First Relieved.

ENGINEER EDDY'S REPORT TO RULE

No Work Will Be Started During Present Year by the Board.

Following instructions from the board of public works Harrison P. Eddy will submit in his report on an improved sewage system in Fort Wayne plans by which the territory lying in the northwestern portion of the city and formerly known as Hungry Hill and that in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania round house in the southeastern part can be taken care of first.

These two sections are most in need of a sewer system and the property owners are crying for relief and it is the intention of the board of public works to give it. In view of the fact that this report is to be secured at a big expenditure of money and the further fact that the city will expend a big sum in correcting the evils of the present system it is not believed by the board to be a good policy to make any extensions at this time.

When the whole system has been outlined it will show just what is needed in the territory referred to and the city can go ahead and do its work permanently, avoiding the chance that it may have to be done over again if it is taken up this season.

Party Made Inspection.

Mr. Eddy took the members of the board of public works, the mayor, Col. D. N. Foster and Ferdinand Meier, of the park board; R. B. Hanna and C. H. Worden, of the Civic Improvement association; Councilmen Frank Sarver and John Bauer and Perry A. Randall on a trip of inspection Saturday in which he outlined the territory that he thinks ought to be cared for when plans are made for sewage.

Following the trip he had a meeting with the board of works and other city officials and he will go back to Boston to begin on his report. The inspection was made to indicate to the officials just what Mr. Eddy thinks ought to be done and to show the board the area a new system ought to cover as he did not want to make a report until the city had approved of his general outline.

Covered Big Territory.

Mr. Eddy proposes to provide for a city extending from a point northwest of the Brookside farm to Sandy point, south of the county infirmary, east to Hanna street and the Piqua road, then to extend two miles east of Walton avenue and to go a couple of miles north.

The engineer said the rivers are full of filth and that they ought not to be used as bathing pools for boys or men either. He also said the present intercepting sewer can be used, but that some alterations will be necessary and that they can be made at a comparatively small expense.

Crematory Out of Commission.

Owing to a breakdown the city crematory is out of commission and will be at least until tomorrow night. This means that there will be no garbage disposed of for at least forty-eight hours. Repairs are being made and it is hoped that the furnaces will be all right by Wednesday morning.

JOY RIDING IN AVIATION.

Mechanic at Rlying School Starts and Has a Crash.

Washington, July 3.—Joy riding has found its way into aviation. A smash-up of a machine at College Park, near here, testifies to this.

On the occasion of several highly successful demonstrations and when those in authority had left the grounds a young mechanic employed by Rex Smith, a local aviator, hauled Smith's machine from his hangar.

"Watch me show up them soldier," the mechanic is quoted as having remarked. Apparently he had not been abashed by rather notable performances of the officers of the army who are practicing aviation at the field.

The joy rider started. He had barely left the ground when his inexperience brought the machine crashing to earth. He emerged from the wreckage slightly scratched. It is said his employer has not seen him since.

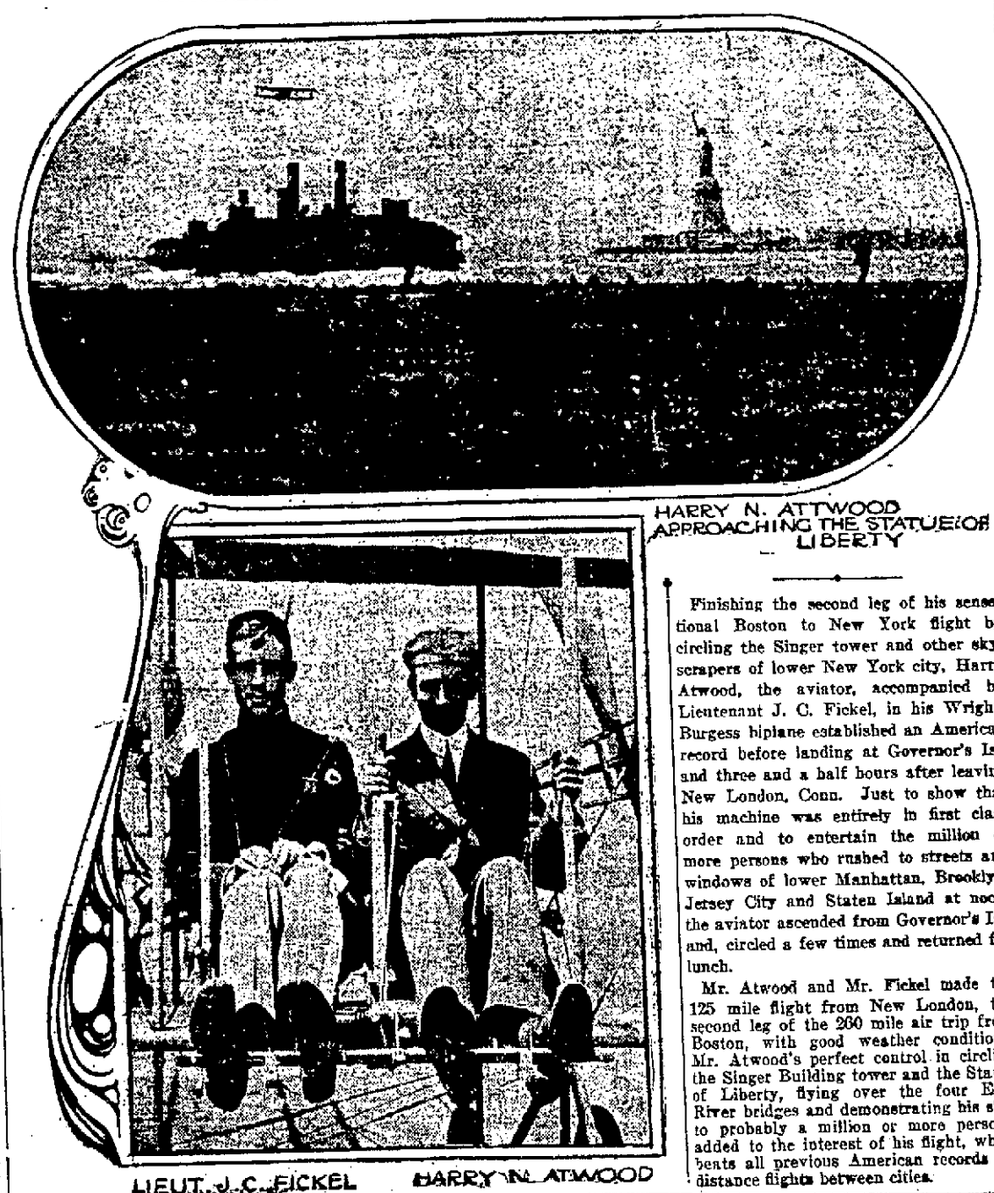
FREE CLINIC FOR INSANITY.

New York, July 3.—New York's first free clinic for mental disease opened today at the Long Island state hospital for the insane. The establishment of similar clinics is contemplated in connection with every state hospital for the insane. The purpose is to discover cases of incipient insanity in time to prevent their development into incurable mental diseases. This movement was started about eight months ago by the committee on mental hygiene of the State Charities Aid association.

TIRES OF LIFE: ENDS IT.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 3.—By tying a clothesline around his neck and fastening the other end to a beam in his store while standing on an oil can, Peter Bens, a well to do south side merchant committed suicide today. He had been in ill health for more than a year and of late had become extremely nervous. He was 50 years old.

MAKES RECORD FLIGHT FROM BOSTON TO NEW YORK, CIRCLING SINGER TOWER AND STATUE OF LIBERTY



HARRY N. ATTWOOD APPROACHING THE STATUE OF LIBERTY

LIEUT. J. C. FICKEL HARRY N. ATWOOD

Finishing the second leg of his sensational Boston to New York flight by circling the Singer tower and other skyscrapers of lower New York city, Harry Atwood, the aviator, accompanied by Lieutenant J. C. Fickel, in his Wright-Burgess biplane established an American record before landing at Governor's Island three and a half hours after leaving New London, Conn. Just to show that his machine was entirely in first class order and to entertain the million or more persons who rushed to streets and windows of lower Manhattan, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Staten Island at noon, the aviator ascended from Governor's Island, circled a few times and returned for lunch.

Mr. Atwood and Mr. Fickel made the 125 mile flight from New London, the second leg of the 260 mile air trip from Boston, with good weather conditions. Mr. Atwood's perfect control in circling the Singer Building tower and the Statue of Liberty, flying over the four East River bridges and demonstrating his skill to probably a million or more persons, added to the interest of his flight, which beats all previous American records for distance flights between cities.

99 DEGREES AT 2 O'CLOCK

HOTTEST EVER RECORDED HERE

Sweltering Heat Slightly Tempered by Occasional Breeze.

All temperature records in Fort Wayne were smashed today when at 2 o'clock this afternoon the weather bureau thermometers on the top of the Shoaff building registered 99 degrees. At the same hour presumably reliable instruments at the street level were showing from 104 to 108 degrees.

It is the hottest day of which Fort Wayne has any authentic record, and yet despite the intense heat no cases of prostrations had been reported up to 3 o'clock. The temperature at 1 o'clock had reached 97 degrees, which was the high mark of Sunday, and an hour later two more degrees had been added. In the forty minutes following the rise was slightly less than one-half a degree.

The general weather forecast issued for today affords little promise of immediate relief from the terrific heat. The best promise in sight is that in northern Indiana the indications hold out a prospect that Tuesday will be "not quite so warm."

Two Degrees Higher.

The low point reached by the temperature in Fort Wayne during the night was 75 degrees at 3 o'clock this morning, and then began a steady rise that promised to considerably eclipse even the sizzling weather of Sunday. At 7 o'clock this morning the temperature was 81, and this was two degrees higher than at the corresponding hour Sunday morning.

From this point the mercury went up by leaps and bounds during the morning hours. In the hour between 7 and 8 o'clock the rise was 6 degrees, and from 8 to 9 there was a further advance of 4 degrees. By 11 o'clock the thermometer on the roof of the Shoaff building had reached 94, and this was 3 degrees warmer than on Sunday at 11 o'clock, and there was a further rise of 2 degrees from 11 o'clock to noon.

Expected It Higher.

Forecaster W. S. Palmer said at noon today that in all probability the temperature would go higher this afternoon than the 97 degrees registered at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the top notch of the day.

And on the street level reliable thermometers registered from 4 to 6 degrees higher than the government instruments on the top of the Shoaff building. At noon today some of them were registering slightly in excess of 100 degrees, due to the radiation of

LOCAL FORECASTS START WEDNESDAY

Weather Bureau Service in Fort Wayne Will Then Be Complete.

ON A MAIN CIRCUIT

On Wednesday morning of this week Forecaster W. S. Palmer, of the Fort Wayne station of the United States weather bureau, will make his first local forecast of weather conditions likely to prevail in Fort Wayne and vicinity for the succeeding thirty-six hours. This will afford the city the complete weather bureau service, and in addition to the observation statistics will give the city weather forecasts that can scarcely fail to be more accurate than the general forecasts previously issued, for the reason that they will be made for a more definite local territory.

Forecaster Palmer was today advised that the Fort Wayne station had been placed on the main New York-Chicago circuit of the weather bureau, which indicates that the local forecaster will be daily supplied with meterological data from 125 weather bureau stations scattered all over the country. These will be transmitted to Fort Wayne by telegraph twice each day for the use of the local forecaster in preparing his predictions for the local territory.

Two forecasts will be made daily—morning and evening, and arrangements are being made to supply them not only to all local people who desire them, but to outside newspapers in this region that may care to make use of them.

GERMANY WILL AWAIT EVENTS

Issue of Her Sending Warship to Morocco Up to Other Powers.

FRANCE NOT EXCITED

Berlin, July 3.—Having shown her hand in sending the gunboat Panther to Agadir, Morocco, Germany is awaiting the action of France, which it is expected will be taken only after consultations with Great Britain and Russia.

It is hoped here that the step taken by the German foreign office will lead to a general discussion of the Moroccoan situation by the four powers principally interested, and the question definitely settled. Otherwise the Germans will remain in Morocco until the Franco-Spanish petitions have been withdrawn. A

BIRDMEN FLY THE CHANNEL

Bevy of Them in Flight to English Shore in Great Race.

FIRST HALF OF BIG CONTEST COMPLETED

Flight of Channel Ceases to Be a Wonder of Aviation.

London, July 3.—The first half of the international circuit aviation race was ended at Hendon Park airdome in Hendon, just outside London, today. Andre Beaumont, a Frenchman, made the speediest trip fro mParis to Hendon and was awarded the London Standard's prize of $1,500. M. Gibert, another Frenchman, won the Dover trophy for the fastest passage across the English channel.

Vedrines, Vidart, Kimmerling, Beaumont, Valentine and Garros reached Hendon closely bunched.

Londoners were early astir to witness the arrival of the competing airmen at Hendon and before there in beautiful weather many thousands gathered at the huge aerodrome where the progress of the flight from Calais was indicated on great blackboards and by the explosion of aerial bombs. Train lost his bearings near Newhaven and was compelled to descend. He alighted rather roughly and his machine, running down hill, was damaged.

Vedrines in his monoplane was the first to arrive, reaching here at 8:34:53. He was given a great reception. He appeared very fit and cheerfully said he had had a splendid passage across the channel and up the coast.

A half hour later Vidart descended gracefully. Kimmerling, Beaumont, Valentine and Garros landed within the next half hour in the order named. Tabuteau appeared at 11:15 o'clock; he, too, having lost his way. As he got out of his machine he sank to the ground and in a moment was asleep.

Renaux, who has carried a passenger throughout the race, was reported this morning as having reached East Bourne.

NO LONGER A FEAT.

Dover, Eng., July 3.—Only by making the cross-channel light under some extraordinary circumstances will any aviator be able hereafter to gain any particular glory from the feat. After today the flight must be considered an ordinary affair, forthe morning saw no fewer than eleven airmen, contestants in the European circuit race, winding their way across the channel and alighting in Dover as easily as a flock of birds might have done. Moreover, one of the eleven, Renaux, carried a passenger in his biplane.

The morning was perfect, hardly a breath of wind ruffling the surface of the channel as the pick of Eng-

A VAST AREA IS BROILING

Terrible Heat Wave Over Whole Country East of the Rockies.

NO RELIEF HELD OUT FOR TUESDAY

Torrid Temperature Seems to Be Breaking Records in All Sections.

Washington, July 3.—With skies practically cloudless the country over today, early reports to the weather bureau indicated that hot weather records might be broken in many sections.

The day started with temperatures ranging from 2 to 16 degrees higher than yesterday morning in the larger cities, New York topping the list with a rise from 72 to 88 degrees.

In Chicago it was 84, compared with 82 yesterday morning; in Washington the rise from 78 to 84 and at Atlanta from 72 to 82.

The forecast held out no hope of relief within the next 36 hours. The hot wave extends over the middle Mississippi valley and eastward over the Ohio valley, the south portion of the Great Lake region, the middle Atlantic and the New England states.

The only rains reported are scattered showers in the gulf and south Atlantic states, the Rocky mountain region, north Michigan and North Plains states.

Tonight and tomorrow will be fair in the middle Atlantic and New England states, the Ohio valley and lake region, according to the forecaster.

Scattered showers are probable only on the south Atlantic and gulf states. No material change in temperatures is expected anywhere east of the Mississippi river.

INTENSE IN NEW YORK.

New York, July 3.—At 11 o'clock this morning the official thermometer on the roof of the White Hall building, 320 feet above the street, registered 97 degrees, with every indication that it would continue climbing. This is the hottest day of the year and within 2 degrees of the hottest July 3rd record since the weather bureau was established.

There was almost no relief during the night from the heat of yesterday. Prostrations increased hourly as the day wore on. In Brooklyn, Eugene Carnel, crazed by the heat, ran amuck with an open knife and after attempting to stab two policemen and several citizens, was shot dead by an officer.

The thermometer at 8 o'clock this morning registered 15 degrees higher than at the same hour yesterday, which was good enough indication that Monday would beat Sunday for the high temperature record. Yesterday, with a maximum of 94.5 degrees was the hottest day here for twelve years, but it showed an 8 o'clock temperature of only 72 compared with 87 at 8 o'clock this morning.

The heat has caused ten deaths and nearly sixty prostrations. The rush of bathers to river and ocean beaches, due to the excessive warmth, was indirectly responsible for nine deaths in this neighborhood from drowning.

DEADLY HEAT IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, July 3.—Chicago sweltered

INDIANS END SACRED DANCE.

Utes Spend Three Days in Annual Ceremony to Ward Off Disease.

Grand Junction, Colo., July 3.—Three hundred Ute Indians from the Uinta and Uncompahge Valleys have just finished their three days sacred dance at White Rock, ninety miles from here. It has been the custom of the Utes for years to hold this three days dance annually.

They believe that it will prevent illness among their tribesmen, and especially is it a preventive of consumption.

For seventy-two hours the Indians went without food except such nourishment as could be sucked from a willow twig carried in the mouth, as they would incessantly prance back and forth and around the sacred trees of the tribe.

MAY FLY ACROSS CONTINENT.

Aviator Atwood Is Considering the Adventure.

New York, July 3.—Harry N. Atwood, the young aviator, who made the first aeroplane flight over Manhattan's skyscrapers Saturday, returned to New York to investigate conditions which he will encounter if he decides to fly from the Pacific to the Atlantic. He said that he had not fully made up his mind whether or not he would fly to Washington, but that if he made the trip it would not be before Thursday. Mr. Atwood said that he might make a few trial flights today with a pupil, but these would be only short circles around the island and the harbor.

RUNNING STREAMS OF FIRE.

Glasgow, Scotland, July 3.—Dalmore's distillery was burned today, causing a loss of $500,000. A remarkable spectacle was furnished by a stream of burning whisky running from the flamegswept building into the Cromarty Firth.

TAFT COMES TO INDIANA

President Guest of City of Marion and Makes Two Speeches.

IN INDIANAPOLIS FOR JULY FOURTH

In Cleveland He Speaks in Behalf of a Safe and Sane Day.

Marion, Ind., July 3.—In her gayest dress, Marion today awaited the arrival of President Taft, which was scheduled for 3:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Taft will be the first president who has ever visited Marion, while in office, and large delegations from surrounding counties came in early to give him welcome. While here the president will participate in an automobile parade, will make two addresses, one at the Marion branch of the National Military home and the other before the bankers and editors associations of the Eleventh Congressional district and will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given by Gov. George W. Steele of the military home. He will leave here late tonight for Indianapolis, where a strenuous program has been arranged for him on the Fourth.

The old civil war cannon at the military home will not boom the presidential salute of 21 guns when he reaches the home, as was planned. It was thought best not to put the relics of by-gone days to such a test for fear of an accident and only a few shots will greet the president here.

INDIANAPOLIS IS READY.

Indianapolis, July 3.—Everything is in readiness for the arrival of President Taft at midnight tonight to be the guest of the city for the sane Fourth celebration. The last detail has been worked out and all the arrangements and the program have been approved by the resident and his aides.

While here the president will deliver the principal address of the trip and he has chosen reciprocity as his subject, but it is said he will treat it from a different view and will justify his republicanism in making the agreement. Aside from the banquet at which the president will make his reciprocity speech, robably the most important feature of his visit will be the big parade, which he will review and he will award the prizes to the winning floats. The presidential reviewing stand has been erected in Monument Place.

Already the city is putting on its holiday dress and by night the streets and buildings along the line of march and down town will be gayly decked in flags and bunting.

MR. TAFT TALKS IN CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, O., July 3.—Standing on the rear platform of his private car, President Taft addressed 200 people on the necessity of observing the Fourth of July in a sane and safe manner here early today. The train conveying the president arrived at 7:55 on its way from Beverly, Mass., to Marion, Indiana, where the president will make an address.

ALEX READY FOR ANOTHER MURDER

Constable Got Him and Sent Him in Before It Happened.

CITY COURT CASES

In view of the fact that therer has not been a murder in the rolling mill district for two or three weeks Alex Morget probably thought it his duty to start something Saturday night to relieve the monotony so he got a good sharp knife and purchased a jag and announced that he was ready to make some more history.

Constable Harry Hughes, who is a special constable for the district, collared Mr. Morget and sent him to police headquarters, where he was kept until this morning when he was fined $5 and costs in the city court for drunkeness.

The Other Cases.

There were no Sunday drunks before the judge and only two who picked up jags on Saturday were fined. William Shrine, John Sullivan, John J. Scott and Frank Parent were let go. A. C. Cartwright did not show up and his bond of $15 paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Roy Foster, charged with the theft of a rifle and a hatchet, was sent over under a fine of $1 and costs and a sentence of ten days.

For the evening a number of pretentious fireworks displays have been arranged in various parts of the city. One of the largest of these will be at the No. 6 engine house of the fire department on Wells street. Residents of the neighborhood, collaborating with the firemen, are preparing to give a handsome evening display of pyrotechnics.

Electro-Technic at Park.

The popular Electro-Technic band will be at Robison park tomorrow afternoon and evening and will render two programs which will consist almost exclusively of popular music. Fourth of July is a gala day and the crowds which will visit the popular resort tomorrow will not be of the kind that go to hear set concerts but rather to have a good time and enjoy every diversion the park affords. Director Shober, entering into the spirit of the day, has prepared no set program but will give such entertainment as he thinks the crowds will most enjoy. Therefore the songs of the present day will predominate and will include patriotic airs, songs of the south, a little ragtime, selections from "The Chocolate Soldier," "Bright Eyes," "Madame Sherry," "The Goddess of Liberty," medleys of popular songs with a coon song like "Sugar Moon" thrown in once in a while. The first concert will be given at 1:30.

TWO CASES OF DIPHTHERIA.

Two new cases of diphtheria were reported at the city health office this morning. The patients are Kenneth Mouskey, of 209 Second street, and Richard Crosby, of 918 West Third street.

ROBERT WILT IN HEROIC RESCUE

Drags Raymond Getz from Depths of Lake at Rome City.

AS CANOE OVERTURNS

Robert Wilt, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Wilt, of this city, plunged into Sylvan lake at Rome City yesterday and rescued Raymond Getz, 324 West Butler street, as the latter was struggling frantically in twenty feet of water after a canoe which he was attempting to navigate had overturned.

The accident caused something of a sensation at Rome City, and Young Wilt, who is an expert swimmer, was the recipient of many congratulations for his rapid and effective work of rescue. Young Mr. Getz, who is an assistant teller at the First National bank, was in a canoe owned by Will O'Rourke, and he had ridden but a short distance from the boat docks when the craft suddenly overturned and Getz plunged to the bottom of the lake. He was unable to swim and was in much peril until Young Wilt hurriedly leaped into the water, swam to his side and assisted him to land, after Getz had sank for the second time.

Getz soon recovered from his exciting experience and was at work as usual today. Young Wilt is a messenger at the First National bank.

The president made a strong plea for the preservation of life by eliminating of old time methods of celebrating the Fourth. The smallness of the crowd that heard him was due to the public's ignorance of the fact that he was to speak. L. H. Britton, chairman of the Sane Fourth committee here, only obtained the president's consent to make a speech in behalf of the movement yesterday and there had been no time to advertise the event.

In spite of the intense heat, already worth notice when he reached Cleveland, President Taft thought it probable he would make several rear platform speeches on his way to Marion. Although his train was almost an hour late it was planned to stop a few minutes at Winchester and Muncie and perhaps other flourishing Hoosier state cities. At Muncie the president expected to help the local cause of the Y. M. C. A. to raise at least a part of a $100,000 fund for a new building.

Somewhere back toward Washington today is the list of fourteen naval officers, selected by the "plucking board" for compulsory resignation, stamped with the president's approval. The list with Mr. Taft's approval was received late yesterday and mailed back last night.

What the President Said.

The president said in his speech here:

"We consult statistics in America because we believe that they prove what a great people we are. They are much more useful when they show us our defects.

"Statistics show the terrible loss to the children in life and limb, because of an insane and foolish observation of the national holiday. When we think of the way in which the Fourth of uly has been observed in the past and of the terrible consequences, it might make us blush that we have not taken means to stop it.

"I am reminded of the mother who had five children and said, 'With the plague of their living and the fear of their dying, I shall go crazy. It is our duty to rid the mothers of the country of all future anxiety by the passing of ordinances forbidding the cannon cracker, the toy pistol an dall other menaces to childhood."

absorbed heat from the sidewalks and the street pavements. The heat was so intense that practically all who were not compelled to get about were driven off the streets.

Breeze is a Life Saver.

In strong contrast with conditions yesterday, however, a slight breeze prevailed during much of today, and this was an immense relief.

Sunday proved altogether the hottest day of which Fort Wayne had any authentic record up to that time, and while the suffering was intense, there were no local cases of serious heat prostrations reported. Starting with a temperature of 79 degrees at 7 o'clock, the showing at noon was 93, and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon the maximum of the day was reached—97 degrees. Two hours later there had been a drop of five degrees, but the entire night was sultry, with scarcely a breeze stirring. Thousands of people sought the parks, and the country places to escape from the blazing heat.

JOHN W. ORR DIES WHILE AT LUNCH

Pioneer Business Man is Stricken Sunday in Restaurant.

END COMES SUDDENLY

Death came very suddenly to John William Orr, aged eighty-two years, a pioneer resident and prominent business man of this city, at 12:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, while he was at lunch in the Hinton restaurant on South Calhoun street. Mr. Orr fell from his chair at the table to the floor of the restaurant and expired before the arrival of his physician, Dr. W. W. Barnett, and his daughter, Mrs. Kate C. Johns, of 1115 West Berry street, who were hurriedly summoned. Death was due to a blood clot on the brain. While he had been in failing health for some time his relatives did not realize that his illness was serious and his death came as a great shock. He complained to his daughter, Mrs. Johns, Sunday that he was suffering from the heat a good deal, and she attributes his sudden death partly to this cause.

The deceased was born May 3, 1829, in Wellsburg, W. Va., of Scotch-Irish descent, and was educated as a physician, but abandoned this calling to take up mechanical lines, following in the footsteps of his father. He was connected with the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, of which his uncle, Robert McKelly, was a director, and with the Wabash railroad for a number of years. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers knew him as their most devoted supporter and aggressive worker, even after he had attained supervision of his former co-workers. He severed his connection with railroad work to take the position of secretary of the Mayflower mills, which he held until his retirement from active business life several years ago. He was a man of great mentality and had always been a staunch democrat and a liberal taxpayer.

Mr. Orr was a Scottish Rite 32d degree Mason and had the distinction of being the oldest Mason in the city, becoming affiliated with the local lodge in 1855. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church and was a man of exemplary habits. December 27, 1853, he was united in marriage to Miss Ellen Carlisle, who preceded him in death twelve years ago. He was a devoted husband and father and a man who had a wide circle of friends. His five children and two brothers survive him. The children are J. Harry Orr, of the First National bank of Fort Wayne; Charles W. Orr, Mrs. Kate C. Johns and Mrs. Flora Bash, all of this city, and James A. Orr, of Muncie.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Scottish Rite cathedral. The pallbearers will be Scottish Rite Masons of the thirty-second degree.

BUEHLER.

John Jacob Buehler, aged 86 years, a pioneer resident of Allen county, died Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the home of his son, William Buehler, 1132 Oak street. Death was due to senility following an illness of only a few days.

The deceased was born in Zurich Canton, Switzerland, Jan. 31, 1825, and came to the United States at the age of 27 years. He went to Buffalo, N. Y., and came direct from that city to Fort Wayne, making the trip via the old Wabash and Erie canal. For a number of years he was employed as a wagonmaker with the Stevens Brothers Wagon works. He later removed to Adams township, where he conducted a wagon and blacksmith shop, remaining in this business until five years ago when he retired from active life. While in Adams township he served five terms as assessor. Since his retirement he had made his home with his son, Gotfred, at Lafayette. He was a member of the Franke Lutheran church. He is survived by six sons—William Buehler, a mechanic in the local Pennsylvania shops; John Buehler, a traveling salesman with the George DeWald company; Charles, Dietrich and August Buehler, of Milwaukee, and Gottfred Buehler, of Lafayette, and one daughter, Mrs. Amelie Weinzierl, of St. Louis. Twenty-nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of the son, William Buehler, 1132 Oak street, thence to St. Paul Lutheran church at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. Miller officiating. Interment at Concordia cemetery.

KOONS.

Henry Koons died Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at the age of 55 years, 5 months and 2 days. Death was due to complications. The deceased was born in Frankreid, Germany, and came to America with his parents at the age of 5 years, locating in Pennsylvania. In 1850 he removed to Indiana, and later located in Wayne township, Allen county, where he engaged in sawmilling and farming. He retired from active business twenty years ago and removed to Fort Wayne, which has been his home since that time. He was a charter member of the First Baptist church. He is survived by two sons, Foster and Edgar Koons, of Wayne township, and two daughters, Mrs. J. M. Hathaway and Mrs. David Dalman, both of Fort Wayne, and two brothers, John and Philip Koons, and seven grandchildren. His wife and one son preceded him in death.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence, Rev. J. F. Vichert officiating. Interment at Prairie Grove cemetery.

PARENT.

Robert Parent (colored,) aged 59 years, died at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning at his home, 1023 Pape avenue, following a five weeks' illness from Bright's disease. The deceased had resided in Fort Wayne for the past five years and had been employed as janitor at the Elks' temple. He was a member of the Masonic and Knights of Pythias lodges. He is survived by a widow, one son, Raymond, a brother, Thomas Parent, and a sister, Sadie Parent. Funeral services at the residence Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and the body will be shipped to Frankfort, Ky., the place of his birth, for interment.

VALENTINE.

Mrs. Charles Valentine, aged 18, of Churubusco, died at 11 o'clock this morning at Lutheran hospital, following the birth of a daughter Saturday. The child still lives. The remains will be shipped to Churubusco for funeral services and interment.

DELMARTIN.

Mrs. J. C. Delmartin, of New Haven, died early Saturday at the St. Joseph's hospital, where she had been a patient since last Thursday. Death was due to septicaemia and followed four days after the death of her infant daughter. The remains were shipped to her home in New Haven for funeral services and interment.

A VAST AREA IS BROILING

and suffered today as the torrid weather which has held the city in its grasp since Friday continued unabated. At least one death and half a dozen prostrations had been reported this morning. At 7 o'clock the thermometer registered 88 degrees, as compared with 86 degrees at the same hour yesterday. At 9 o'clock the mercury reached 90 and was still climbing. People flocked to the bathing beaches for relief by the thousand. Trains and lake steamers bound for nearby summer resorts were crowded throughout the day. It is estimated that 200,000 have left the city during the past forty-eight hours.

Suffering of the poor in the tenement house districts continues. There were seven deaths from heat and eight prostrations Sunday. The death rate among babies is extremely high since the beginning of the hot wave.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the government thermometer at the street level indicated 102 degrees, while in the tower, one of the highest in the city, it was but four degrees lower. Last night was the hottest in forty-one years.

NO RELIEF DURING NIGHT.

Kansas City, July 3.—Following the hottest night in Kansas City since the establishment of the weather bureau here, twenty-three years ago, the local forecaster predicated no abatement today for the southwest. The government thermometer registered 91 at midnight, the same at 1 a. m. and just before sunrise stood at 93, the lowest reading of the twenty-four hours from 7 to 7.

St. Joseph, Mo., reported two deaths from heat last night following the season's hottest day of 104 degrees.

At 7 o'clock this morning the temperature was from 5 to 10 degrees higher than normal for that hour throughout the southwest. There were no indications of rain, the forecaster said, and probabilities were that today's records would crowd closely the highest marks of yesterday.

PRAYING FOR RAIN.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 3.—At the several masses in the Catholic churches of St. Joseph Sunday prayers were offered for rain and in some of the Protestant churches similar supplications were made.

PHILADELPHIA SIZZLES.

Philadelphia, July 3.—That Philadelphia and vicinity are in for another extremely hot day was early indicated by the government weather bureau thermometer which at 9 o'clock registered 91 degrees, or 9 degrees warmer than at the same hour yesterday.

HOTTEST FOR A DECADE.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 3.—Leading by several degrees the hourly temperature of yesterday, which was the hottest day since July 22, 1901, the mercury shot upward today and gave promise of surpassing yesterday's high marks. During the morning the government weather bureau reported 94 degrees as compared with 91 at the same hour yesterday. The kiosk showed 100 degrees shortly before noon.

ST. LOUIS SUFFERS.

ST. LOUIS, July 3.—The hot wave continued over eastern Missouri and southern Illinois today. Here last night the government thermometer did not fall below 79 and at 7 o'clock this morning registered 83.

At 10:30 o'clock the temperature was 94 and rising. Police reports show two men died last night from the heat.

PRISONERS BREAK JAIL.

Uniontown, Pa., July 3.—Three prisoners, one a murderer, escaped from the jail here today. They were in the hospital department. A key had been made out of a spoon and the outer door opened.

OLD CUSTOM IS GONE FOREVER

Fort Wayne Postoffice Will Not Be Open Next Sunday.

CLOSING ORDER OUT

If it has been your custom to call at the Fort Wayne postoffice on Sunday morning between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock for your mail, you need not make the trip next Sunday—or any Sunday hereafter, as a matter of fact. There will be nothing doing.

Under authority from the postoffice department Postmaster Hanna today issued the order under which the office will remain closed on Sundays. The change is in line with the plan adopted in all the larger cities, and it obliterates a custom which has prevailed in Fort Wayne for many years.

Postmaster Hanna says that during all the discussion over the matter he has not heard one complaint against the proposed closing. The request for the closing was made in the form of a petition largely signed by Fort Wayne business men, as well as by resolutions adopted by the Federation of Labor and the Retail Merchants' association.

This will obviate the necessity of the full staff of letter carriers reporting at the postoffice each Sunday for several hours' work sorting mail and passing it out at the windows to addresses who lined up to call for it. It is said the new plan will in no way delay the Monday morning deliveries.

land's expert aviators headed from Calais for this shore. The air was as still when they landed here.

A great crowd had surrounded the landing place in anticipation of the arrival of the birdmen. They had but a short wait before Vedrines, consistently the leader in the previous stages o fthe race, drove his monoplane into view of fleecy clouds that hung low over the channel. He made a circuit of the airedrome and landed gracefully. The flight from Calais had been accomplished in about half an hour.

The other contestants followed in quick succession. Seven monoplanes were almost bunched, then came two biplanes and another monoplane brought up the rear. Everything went as orderly and in as ordinary fashion as at a horse race meeting. One by one the machines appeared over the trees, swept down to the aerodrome, circled it and landed without a semblance of a mishap. There was none of the excitement which had characterized the previous cross-channel flights nor were the aviators excited.

general European conference is not expected.

FRANCE NOT EXCITED.

Paris, July 3.—Foreign Minister De Selves did not remain in Paris today, but accompanied President Fallieres to Holland. Yesterday it was announced that M. De Selves had changed his plans and would stay here as a consequence of the new situation brought about in Morocco by the determination of Germany to send a gunboat to Agadir.

Premier Caillaux has taken over the conduct of the foreign office pending M. De Selves' return and will direct France's attitude concerning German intervention in Morocco.

As France was merely notified of the fact accomplished, namely that a German warship had been dispatched to Agadir, it is possible that this government will not send an embassy to Berlin, but like Germany, will decide upon a course of action and then adopt it.

It is not unlikely that, after consulting with Great Britain, France may send a warship to Agadir, as the Algeciras act authorizes the policing of the Morocco coast by France in conjunction with Spain. Although the German action was sudden, France had been anticipating a move of some sort by Germany because of Spain's extension of her military operations in the north of Morocco, a policy which France has steadily opposed as leading to the idea that the agreement of Algeciras was dead and that Morocco was to be dismembered.

The French press continues calm, but urges the government to conduct the situation with a firm hand.

GIVEN LONG VACATION.

Employes of the DeWald Dry Goods company are enjoying a Fourth of July vacation of considerable length as a result of an order issued Saturday by R. W. T. DeWald, president of the company. The institution closed at noon Saturday, and employes were told that they need not report for duty again until Wednesday morning.

Frank H. Cutshall, of Lima, O., is in the city.

Attorney James Hamilton, of Cleveland, is visiting his parents in the city.

W. H. Moreland, of Denver, is in the city visiting H. J. Keenan, of the Anthony hotel.

MARSHALLS CITED BY REMONSTRANT

Says Day and Night Officers Know of Violations of Law.

DAMAGE SUIT FILED

An unsigned remonstrance against the granting of a liquor license to Joe Johns at New Haven cites the fact that August Meyer, day marshal, and James Bilderback, night guardian of the peace, know that Johns has kept his place open after hours, has sold to minors and drunken men and has permitted gambling on his premises Sundays and at night. It is charged that he opens his place as late as 1 o'clock in the morning for the accommodation of automobile parties from Fort Wayne and the commissioners are asked to summon the two marshals, Tom Finan, Fred Blaising, Ed Reeves, Herman Severs, George Schellers and Christ Klosen as witnesses. The board held the license up and will have the men before it on Thursday.

Other Remonstrances Filed.

Sixty-nine people living in the vicinity of the John Petro saloon on the Bluffton road ask that he be refused a renewal. No specific objections are made and the remonstrance is probably not valid because not a majority of the voters of the township have signed it. He wants to secure a renewal of his old license and transfer it to Daniel E. McKenzie. His case was held up until Wednesday as the old license does not expire until that time. A remonstrance signed by 144 voters of Madison township was filed with the board, but there are no applications from that township until next month and no action was taken.

Suit for Damages.

Lafayette Girardot has entered suit against Jacob and Charles Rossworm to recover $5,000 for injuries sustained in a fall from a scaffold. He alleges he was sent up on a scaffold that was badly constructed and of poor timber and that it broke and let him fall. Leonard, Rose & Zollars filed the suit.

Plans and specifications have been filed with the county auditor for the Tennessee avenue bridge by three contractors who want to bid, the law giving them the right to file such in addition to the county's plans. Those filing are the Block & Supply company and the National Concrete company, both of Indianapolis, and Mr. Grosvenor, of Fort Wayne. Bids will be opened July 12.

A GINSENG FARM.

Raising the Curious Roots That Sell for $8 a Pound.

Owing to years of systematic hunting for its roots very little ginseng remains growing in its natural state in the woods, and in order to supply the demand it has been necessary to resort to artificial cultivation.

A correspondent of Fur News describes his ginseng garden in Rutland county, Vermont, started six years ago from wild roots, though the subsequent plantings have been from seeds. The seeds planted in the fall do not come up until the second year.

The beds were made of sand, well rotted horse manure, leaf mold and the like, forming a soft soil such as is found about the roots of trees in the woods. The soil is mulched each fall with old leaves. A network of slats is built over the beds to simulate the shade of the woods, as frequent sunshine upon the plants invariably kills them.

By exercising due care in the preparation of the beds the plants thrive as well as they do in the natural state. Very few weeds grow among them on account of the shade, and consequently they need very little attention except in case of blight, which occasionally attacks the plants and retards their growth. A spraying of Bordeaux mixture is effective in checking this blight.

The root, which gets its growth in five or six years, is the ginseng of commerce and is called manroot, because it ferquently assumes the form of a human body. The first frost of autumn knocks down the plant and the matured roots are then dug and dried ready for market. Ice and snow have no effect upon the roots and they grow from year to year. The beds under cultivation are so planted that one matures each autumn.

The dried roots are worth $7 to $8 a pound in this country, though the Chinese, who consume by far the greater portion of ginseng produced, pay a much higher price for it. Ginseng thrives best in cold climates and is extensively grown in Canada, Northern New York and the New England states.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MYSTERY SURROUNDS STOCKMAN'S DEATH

Charles Saam, of Hoaglin, Ohio, Meets Queer Death in Cincinnati—Police Baffled.

Van Wert, O., July 3.—After having received serious injuries under mysterious circumstances while in Cincinnati, where he had gone last Saturday with a load of cattle for the market, Charles Saam, 51 years of age, one of the most prominent stock shippers in Hoaglin township, died at the city hospital in that city Saturday morning.

According to the best information at hand Mr. Saam received his injuries either last Sunday night or early the following Monday. He was found by one of the policemen on one of the corners in the business center of the city in an unconscious condition and was sent to the city hospital in an ambulance. Papers were found on his person by which he was identified, and his family at Hoaglin was notified. As soon as his wife could leave the bedside of their only daughter, who is ill; she went to the side of her husband, but was called back home the day before his death.

The proprietor of the hotel where Mr. Saam was stopping in Cincinnati could throw no light upon his movements. The Saturday he arrived in the city the stockman saw his cattle safely penned in the stockyards, but failed to sell them, and hence had very little money with him. He left the hotel Saturday evening, but before going borrowed $5 from the hotel clerk, which he said would be enough to run him until Monday. Then he went out and the clerk never saw him again.

Mr. Saam's skull was fractured, his spine was injured, and he was cut and bruised about the chest. One theory is that while he was crossing a street he was either struck by an automobile or a street car, and another is that he was set upon by thugs, beaten into insensibility and robbed, but this theory is also baffling in the light of the fact that his watch, a valuable one, was still in his pocket when found, but his money was gone.

The deceased had lived in Hoaglin township for fourteen years, and was one of the most steady and popular men in his community, where there is deep sorrow over his violent death. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Florence.

The funeral will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Mt. Pleasant church, the interment following.

PIONEER MAN INJURED.

Bluffton, Ind., July 3.—E. M. Johnson, an employe of the King Piano factory, of this city, was seriously injured Saturday morning when an edge of a broken belt struck him on the left side of the face. The belt snapped while running at high speed and one end flipped out with great force. The edge or end of the belt met his face and inflicted a wound above and below the eye in addition to rupturing several small blood vessels on each side of the cornea. The sight of the eye is not impaired and it is hoped that the organ will not be permanently injured.

OLD VETERANS TO MEET AT WABASH

September 14 Will Be Date of County Reunion—Officers to Engage Speaker.

Wabash, Ind., July 3.—Arrangements are now under way for the annual reunion of the veterans of the civil war who live within the boundaries of Wabash county. Those in charge will put forth every effort this year to make the meeting bigger and better than ever before and it is the desire to hav the largest attendance in the history of the organization.

September 14 has been decided upon as the date for the reunion and it will be held in the Memorial hall in this city. Further, it is the understanding among the veterans of the country that the reunion will never be held elsewhere as this city is most centrally located. During the past years three of the meetings were held at North Manchester; Roann entertained the organization once; Lafontaine had the gathering one year; Somerset entertained the veterans on another occasion and at still another time the affair was held at Miller's tile mill, four miles south of Wabash, on the Walnut Tree pike.

Auditor J. P. Noftzger is president of the organization and James P. Ross is secretary. The two will select a speaker for the occasion and this will be done within the next few days. Each township has a vice president and these seven officers will have a voice in making the arrangements and preparing the program. The first reunion of the county veterans was held on August 9, 1891, in this city.

STOCK POISONER CONFESSES.

Farmer Feeds Paris Green to His Enemy's Cows.

Portland, Ind., July 3.—John Tiebens, a well-to-do farmer living near Pennville, is held in jail at this city under a serious charge following his arrest late Friday when he was taken into custody on a warrant charging a felony.

Tiebens recently gained possession of a farm owned by his sister after having been successful in having her declared of unsound mind and sent to an asylum. Recently he sold the farm to a Mr. Hercules, of Indianapolis. When the purchaser found that Tiebens could not give him a clear title he held back part of the purchase price until the matter was adjusted. This engendered a bitter feeling to which Tiebens gave vent in various criminal acts, such as destroying the fences and poisoning his neighbor's stock.

Two valuable cows recently died under mysterious circumstances and the owner had their stomachs sent to Indianapolis for chemical analysis. The examination disclosed the presence of paris green in large quantities. Suspicion fell on Tiebens and he was placed under surveillance.

Friday when he went to Pennville officers searched his home and under the kitchen floor found several pounds of the poison powder. Tiebens at first denied his guilt but later admitted it after learning that the poison had been found.

SANE FOURTH ASSURED.

Kendallville Will Be Quiet—Civic Club Gets Results.

Kendallville, Ind., July 3.—With the Fourth of July one day off and with fewer fireworks for sale in this city than in any previous year, it is now a well established fact that Kendallville people will be assured of a "safe and sane Fourth."

This has been brought about by the action taken by the city council who, although an ordinance was not passed, formed an agreement with the merchants that the latter should not dispose of any dangerous explosives, consequently, not eliminating the sport of Young America entirely, there will be only a limited sale of fireworks. The action, as taken by the city dads, is the result of a petition from the Civic club, asking for a "sane Fourth" which was given recognition some time ago.

ESCAPES BY JUMPING.

Warsaw, Ind., July 3.—Dr. W. H. Eggleston, of this city, is confined to his bed as the result of injuries received on Friday evening, when his automobile was struck by a westbound Pennsylvania freight train at the Indiana street crossing and was badly wrecked. Dr. Eggleston, who was alone in the machine, saved his life by jumping. He struck on his right hip and was quite badly bruised about the body, but his injuries are not thought to be of a serious nature.

ACROBATS ENGAGED BY BAND.

Auburn, Ind., July 3.—The Belford family of acrobats, of Waterloo, who are spending the summer at their 120-acre farm on the banks of Long lake, northeast of Kendallville, have been engaged by the trustees of the city band association to put on their acts at the base ball park on Thursday, July 15. The proceeds of the exhibition will be for the benefit of the band.

ANDREWS RECEIVES JOLT.

Andrews, Ind., July 3.—Andrews has received another hard blow in its commercial circles but this one promises to be only a cloud that will pass over in a short time. The Cabinet factory is to be closed down indefinitely with the hope that it will resume operations under a new management before long and be more prosperous than ever.

YEARS WITHOUT VACATION.

Montpelier, Ind., July 3.—Holding the same position for sixteen years, during which time he has never had a vacation, and, furthermore, declaring he does not want or need a rest, is the remarkable record for steady and faithful attention to duty of Jay Stewart, a clerk in the Jack Winnings cigar store at this place.

GERMAN CIRCUS AMAZES.

Albert Schuman's Trained Horses Attract Many Travelers in Europe.

Travelers from all over the world, while touring Germany, seldom fail to visit the Albert Schuman circuses at Berlin, Frankfurt or Scheveningen. In all Europe the name of Schuman is as significant as is the name of Ringling to Americans. Schuman's specialty is the training of horses. In this respect he is the greatest man in the world. His wonderful acts have so astonished beholders that on the return to their native countries the glories of Rome and of Athens and the splendors of the Louvre have held no more important places in their minds when relating their adventures and travels.

Schuman is many times a millionaire. He has made all his money by training and exhibiting horses. His achievements read like miracles. It does not seem that horses would allow themselves to be rolled about in barrels. Schuman's horses do. It can scarcely be believed that horses could draw water from casks, catch it in glasses and drink it as the Teuton drinks his beer. Schuman's horses do this. Think of a horse shaking himself loose from his harness, climbing into the carriage and taking a seat beside the driver. Schuman's horses do. When the act begins the horses enter the arena concealed in large barrels which are piled on an immense brewery wagon. The nature of the act is not disclosed to spectators until the horses kick out the heads of the barrels and jump into the ring.

Albert Schuman and his horses are one of the big features of Ringling Bros.' circus this season. It is the first time the great German wizard has ever exhibited his handiwork outside of his native country. It took a fortune to induce him to bring his horses to America. The act is now being presented under Ringling Bros.' main tent just as it was seen on the other side of the ocean.

To Mr. Schuman the training of horses is a serious work. He looks upon his achievements with the same earnestness that an artist regards his canvas. His is the genius of hard work. He dramatizes the equine faculties into exhibitions that astonish mankind. Kings have decorated him and the greatest statesmen and professors of Europe are his friends. There is no other man quite like him in the world. Only a poet and an artist could achieve what Mr. Schuman has achieved.

Other wonderful features of Ringling Bros.' program are the Bonesetti family of acrobats, from Italy; Mijarez, the Mexican wire wizard; the Alex troupe of aerialists, from France; Alfred Loyal's somersault riding dog, from England; Prof. Emory's troupe of baby elephant performers, also from England; the Delno family of comedy aerial bar performers and the Maus Crocker family of gypsy riders.

The big circus will be seen in Fort Wayne on Friday, July 21.

Circus Expenses $7,500 Each Day.

The daily expenses of Ringling Bros.' circus are $7,500. Over $2,000 of this amount is for provisions which are bought each morning in the local market by Steward A. L. Webb. There are 1,286 men, women and children and 650 horses to feed. The tents of the show cover fourteen acres of ground. The train which transports the show from place to place is over a mile in length.

Sprains require careful treatment. Keep quiet and apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. It will remove the soreness and quickly restore the parts to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

50 Per Cent ALBUMEN

We have the following report on an extreme case of Bright's Disease. Patient, Frank H. Chandler Clay, New York, member of Salt Springs Lodge, F. & A. M., No. 520 Syracuse:

The physician was called in in May, 1906. Diagnosed it as Bright's Disease, with albumen 22 per cent. Dropsy soon appeared from head to foot. Case resisted treatment and became alarming. A specialtist and two other physicians called in in consultation. At this point patient was nearly bursting with dropsy. Had to be tapped, four quarts of water being drawn. The situation was complicated with paralyzed condition of the bowels. Stomach woud only retain peptonized milk. Distressing uraemic headaches and eyesight impaired. At this point the family called in a fifth physician. He gave no hope. Tests by the College of Medicine, Syracuse, N. Y., showed 50 per cent albumen with casts.

At this critical moment the patient's family heard of a friend whose case was pronounced hopeless and had recovered. They investigated and found that the recovery was through Fulton's Renal Compound. Sent for it and put the patient on it December 25th.

Case stubborn and yielded but slowly. The first favorable symptoms noted was that the patient began to sleep normally. The dropsy began to decline and was finally completely eliminated. Complication subsided with gradual disappearance of albumen and casts. The patient slowly gained 23 lbs. in weight and now sports good health.

This case presented one of the hardest cases of Bright's Disease possible. These daily reports of recoveries should interest every family in which there is Bright's Disease and every physician in the United States. Nothing but the prejudices and mistaken notions of the past can now precent recovery in a great majority, but it is dangerous to let cases get as serious as the above before putting them on the treatment.

The new emollient treatment is known as Fulton's Renal Compound. It can be had in Fort Wayne at the D. & N. Pharmacy, 624 Calhoun St.

We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week. Literature mailed free. Jno. J. Fulton Co., 646 Battery St., San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

DIES IN SECOND ATTEMPT.

John Raber Commits Suicide by Swallowing Poison.

Failing in an earlier attempt at suicide by slashing his throat, John Raber, 55 years old, ended his life late Saturday afternoon by swallowing carbolic acid at the home of Mrs. Ida Hamontree, 1718 Fairfield avenue, where he had taken a room but a few days before.

Raber's last employment was as a porter at the Calderwood hotel. He entered his room about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and when, some time later, Mrs. Hamontree heard groans emanating from behind the closed door she called physicians and the police. Raber died soon after their arrival.

Two years ago, when Raber's wife died, he was alleged to have mistreated her, and within a short time the man attempted to commit suicide at his wife's grave. He is survived by five sons and three daughters. The remains were removed to the Wellman undertaking rooms, where funeral services were held this afternoon.

S.S.S. FOR SUMMER SKIN DISEASES

During the summer most persons are annoyed with pimples, boils, rashes or eruptions, while others suffer more severely with Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or some kindred skin disease. All skin affections come from humors and acids in the circulation. The blood, as it circulates through the system, deposits these humors and acids in the sensitive membranous flesh which lies just beneath the outer skin. This acrid matter causes inflammation and a discharge which breaks through the delicate cuticle, and skin diseases are the result. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be freed from all acids and humors, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. It removes every particle of the impurity, enriches the blood, and in this way permanently cures skin diseases. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

CITY MUST FIRST DO ITS PART.

If the health authorities of this city finally prevail in their efforts to bring about complete compliance with the laws and ordinance relating to garbage, as it is the duty of the health authorities to do, what is the city going to do next? The old crematory is not equal to the task of destroying all the garbage there is to be destroyed when the collection is thorough, and the collection system, if its performances during the past seventeen or eighteen years and now are a criterion, cannot collect all the garbage that accumulates. Does not the inadequacy of the city's means to collect and destroy garbage make a miserable sort of joke of the efforts of the health and judiciary departments of the city government to enforce the laws against householders?

Now the people of this city have no penchant for filth. They do not revel in foul odors. They do not rejoice in a plenitude of flies. They do not take comfort in breeding disease in their backyards. They will in a vast majority of cases comply faithfully with the laws whenever the city is prepared to perform its duty in respect of the laws. For every just occasion of complaint the city has ever had against the householder for his remissness toward the garbage regulations the householder has had a hundred just occasions of complaint against the garbage collectors. The people have been educated not to comply habitually with the laws but to look upon the law as an erratic, shifting, uncertain and undependable affair.

This condition should be remedied and promptly. Let the city provide itself with an adequate means of destroying garbage and an efficient and regular system of collection and then enforce the regulations as stringently as is possible. The people will then observe the garbage regulations. If not, there will be no element of justice in prosecutions.

EAST END WANTS A PARK.

The people of the East End have a project afoot for the establishment of a public park in that region and it is altogether a good move. If Fort Wayne is to develop a park system the time to begin is now. It may not be financially practicable to do a great deal more at present than to procure park sites, but that itself is the most important phase of the movement at this time. With good park sites in possession the city can proceed as it is able to develop them into places of beauty, recreation and pleasure, whereas delay to get eligible sites rescued from a peculiarly active and persistent real estate market must mean the loss of the best and most accessible sites or the necessity eventually to purchase in a risen market. The finest park sites Fort Wayne had are now gone and gone forever. If there be not diligence to gain possession of the better sites remaining another decade will see Fort Wayne in futile lament that still other fine park places were permitted to slip away. The eastern part of the city has no recreation place save for the acre or two embraced in Hayden park. That large and populous district is entitled to an extensive park development and the opportunity remains to give it to the East End people. The city will grievously blunder if it neglects to press development of a park system now. The people are moving for it and the government should be the last to put any drag upon the effort.

President Taft's visit to Indiana today and tomorrow is an entirely non-partisan event, but if his stop in Indianapolis is not made occasion for salving sores and healing wounds in the republican party of Indiana a fine opportunity will be overlooked. No one is more familiar with the party breaches in this state than the president and no one has more at stake in getting them mended. Mr. Taft will hardly fail to shed smiles and place balm where they will do the most good while sojourning in Hoosierdom. The Indianapolis banquet will bring together the local leaders of the factions from all sections of the state and if some love-feasting is not made the larger part of the informal features of the program a yawning opportunity will be flouted.

Eugene F. Ware, the Kansas poet who, over the pseudonym of "Ironquill" wrote much that had a wide popularity, was not a great poet, but touched the common things of life sympathetically and with understanding. His lyre may not have been strung with either the strongest or the sweetest chords, yet he contrived to put both music and humor into his fretting of the strings. He was widely known and where his verse, and his prose as well, were more familiar they have a place among the loved and remembered things.

There is much to be said for that graciousness of humor and that sense of obligation to a given promise which bring a man weighing in the neighborhood of a fifth of a ton from the cool sea breezes of the old north shore of Massachusetts out into Indiana to swelter in a temperature of a hundred in the shade and make speeches and sit at crowded banquet tables and smile and be joyful through it all. President Taft is making good at what must be about the limit of human discomfiture.

Whenever you swat a fly—an inoffensive and mayhap useful pastime—go forth under the open sky to the overflowing garbage can or rotting, festering and fermenting garbage heap in your back yard and learn how much faster a good fly hatchery can produce results than you can with your little swatter, work you never so fast. And then the looks of it, the stink of it, the shame of it—consider these and get after your councilman and the city administration.

The Lorimer committee of the senate will include in its investigation an inquiry into the perjury with which the testimony already given has been so plenteously checkered. Somebody—several of them, as a matter of fact—has been doing some tall lying before the committee and it will be a part of the work of that body to identify the most gifted of the perjurers who have performed in its presence.

A president of the United States is always sure of a warm welcome in Indiana, but Mr. Taft is getting a record breaker.

Don't waste time swatting flies. Swat the garbage system which breeds flies.

CONGRESSIONAL PHRASES.

(Kansas City Star.)

If, as has been sagely remarked, language was given to conceal thoughts, what an awful lot of thinking some of the statesmen in Washington must be doing. Enough language is consumed there every day to conceal the mental efforts of a Kant or a Tolstoy. This language must serve some purpose; and, as it does not appear to disclose much thought, it must be for purposes of concealment.

A perusal of the Congressional Record is enough to convince one that the preparation of the average speech is not a matter of much labor. All that is needed is a good working knowledge of the achievements of the makers of the past. A fair sprinkling of mouth filling quotations, linked together with a little commonplace language of the orator's own, and the thing is done. The listener in the gallery can, with a little practice, recognize the preliminary signals and have his mental finger on the quotation before the speaker gets to it.

If a statesman is proclaiming his loyalty to a certain measure he is sure to lead up to a statement that he is for the bill "without the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't'." When the orator is a little hazy in regard to his facts he says he makes the statement "without fear of successful contradiction."

In the mind of the congressional orator Lincoln's other services sink into insignificance in comparison with his coining of the phrase: "Of the people, for the people and by the people," and "As God gives us to see the right."

Since socialism has risen in the land and Victor Berger has moved down upon the capital, "doctrinaire" is about the most popular word in the dictionary, closely pressed for first honors by "obsession."

Every time the orator declares "The will of the people is the supreme law," he halts for the expected applause. The speaker who uses that phrase is sure to make reference somewhere in his remarks to "the great common people," "liberty and equality" and "equal rights for all, special privileges for none."

These and a few more quotations familiar to all can be strung together into a speech that, when printed in the Record and liberally sprinkled with "applause," "general applause" and "extended applause," goes to make an oration that will establish the reputation of the member as a spellbinder among the folks back home.

WHAT THE PEOPLE ARE GAINING.

(Kansas City Times.)

Life insurance policy holders are reaping great benefits from the reformations that have grown out of the Armstrong investigation in New York, a few years ago, and the legislation prompted by the disclosures. It will be remembered that scandalous extravagance in the management of the big companies was shown and numerous high salaried officials lost their jobs in consequence. In the case of one company policy holders this year are receiving more than double the annual dividends, or distributions, that were received on policies of simbilar duration prior to the investigation. With a largely increased business this company's total expense cost was cut from 16½ million dollars in 1904 to 8¾ million dollars in 1909. In consequence of this great saving, the total dividends to policy holders were $12,300,000 in 1910, compared with amounts ranging from $2,299,175 to $2,994,643 in each of the five years from 1901 to 1905 inclusive, preceding the investigation.

The restraining hand of government on the operations of frenzied financiers who had come to look on positions of trust primarily as opportunities of personal enrichment, has thus resulted in turning millions of dollars annually back to the people in the case of the big insurance companies. It is having a similar effect in various ways, through the trust investigations and prosecutions, the regulation of railroads, and in a still larger sense through a really wonderful change in public sentiment, which is developing a recognition of trusteeship and of obligation to the public among men who direct the large financial and industrial affairs of the country.

CHAMP CLARK'S CHANCES.

(Boston Globe.)

Champ Clark may be the right man in the right place and a child of destiny headed for the white house, but precedents do not strongly support his claim to promotion. We have had thirty-five different speakers since 1789, but only one of them—James K. Polk—ever became president, and then not until six years after he had ceased to be speaker.

When the American people select presidents they seem to favor men of war, successful governors, or men prominent in congress. They do not turn spontaneously toward the speaker of the house; instead, they turn away from him—witness the names of Henry Clay and James G. Blaine, unsuccessful candidates, and Thomas B. Reed, who even failed of a nomination.

Neither do they look to presidents pro tem. of the senate or to vice presidents. John Tyler is the only vice president who became president after the practice was abandoned of giving the second place to the candidate who next to the president received the most votes.

In the light of past history Champ Clark seems to start with a handicap, but people who start under handicaps sometimes turn out to be winners, so the Missouri representative need not stop before he starts. There is no better liked man in the country than he.

BETTER WAY IN ENGLAND.

(Philadelphia Record.)

Contested elections in England are settled in the courts. The fact that the constitution makes both houses of congress the judges of the qualifications of their respective members seems to preclude the reference of contest for seats in the house and senate to the courts, but where corruption is involved it should not be impossible to have the proceedings of a judicial character. There is a theory that election committees, not being limited by the narrow rules of evidence established in the criminal courts, are more likely to do full and complete justice than the courts. On the other hand, the committees are always subject to personal and political influences from which the courts are free, or almost so. In England the under secretary of state for home affairs has just been unseated on account of corruption in his election, although the judges recognized that Mr. Masterman was guiltless, the corruption being the act of his agent. If there were such severity as that in this country corrupt elections would occur very seldom.

TURNERS VOICE THANKS.

Make Acknolwedgment of Favors Shown During Turnfest.

The Turnverein Vorwarts has issued an expression of its appreciation of the assistance given by the city during the recent Kreis Turnfest. The card, bearing the signatures of Conrad Bauss, president; Victor Kalteyer, chairman of the executive committee, and R. Schindler, corresponding secretary, is addressed "to the people of Fort Wayne," and reads as follows:

Gut Heil—The great Kreis Turnfest has come and gone, the executive committee is now engaged in winding up its affair and making final settlement. In spite of most unfavorable weather we believe the fest was in every way a success, the thousands of visitors went home with a most favorable impression of our city and the hospitality of her people, and, although what was to have been the most impressive event, the exhibition at the baseball grounds Saturday night, was spoiled by the rain, yet we believe that the cause of systematic bodily training has received a decided boost, and we hope to see the results in the future.

We hereby wish to acknowledge that the success was in a large measure due to the generous support and liberality of the press and the ready assistance and general good will on the part of the business men of our city, and the Turnverein Vorwaerts takes pleasure in extending to them and to the Commercial club our sincere thanks for generous donations to our guarantee fund.

We further wish to thank the Brown Trucking company for the use of their fine horses in the parade, and we also wish to express special thanks to the mayor and city officials for lending grace and dignity to the affair by their presence.

We trust that the indirect benefits to our city will be commensurate with the expended energy and means.

Have We Your Confidence?

If we have, then you know and feel that we live up to the letter of our advertisements. If we could only instill that feeling into the mind of the average woman, and that is what we are gradually doing, then we would not be able to handle the large volume of the resulting business.

Those of our customers who have been able to take advantage of our sales and find that the reductions advertised are bargains in every sense of the word, know that the Seelberg Store is one store where confidence may justly be placed.

Monday we will place on sale 70 Spring Suits which formerly sold up to $30.00 apiece. These same suits are now marked $5.00 for quick riddance.

Furthermore we have 43 dozen waists of real $1.25 and $1.50 qualities which we will sell at 98 cents during the week.

Very low clearance prices will prevail all over the entire store during this week.

Big money saved if you take advantage of this wonderful value giving sale.

Look over our line before you purchase elsewhere.

Rev. A. J. Folsom Surprised by Plymouth Congregational Members.

LEAVES ON VACATION

Rev. A. J. Folsom, the pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, was given a pleasant surprise Sunday evening when, just before leaving his home for the union service at his church, he was presented with a check for $250 by the treasurer of the church, J. L. Rogier, the gift of the members of the congregation. The presentation was made in view of the leaving today of Rev. Mr. Folsom for the Adirondack mountains on a six weeks' vacation, the money being intended as his expense account. At the evening service the pastor made mention of the gift and expressed his heartfelt thanks. He left today for Niagara Falls, his old home, where he will spend a few days, and from there he goes to the Adirondack mountains, where he remains during the rest of his vacation.

THACKERAY AT SCHOOL.

The Brethren of the Charterhouse are to be entertained to dinner by the Pitmarsh club in commemoration of the Thackeray centenary, says the London Chronicle. It was in 1822 that Thackeray—then a little boy of 11—was placed under the care of the Rev. Edward Penny at the Charterhouse. Always extremely sensitive, he was rather a failure as a schoolboy. Years afterward he wrote: "I was not a brilliant boy at school—the only prize I ever remember to have got was in a kind of lottery in which I was obliged to subscribe with seventeen other competitors—and of which the prize was a flogging. That I won. But I don't think I carried off any other. Possibly from laziness, or, if you please, from incapacity, but I certainly was rather inclined to be on the side of the dunces."

Let us fit you out with cool, comfortable clothing for tomorrow. Store open until 9 o'clock tonight.

IMPREGNABLE FROM THE SEA.

New York's Fortifications Able to Withstand Any Fleet.

Washington, July 3.—The fortifications guarding the city of New York and other important centers of population on the seaboard are considered invincible by Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States army. He believes the great guns of the fortifications could destroy any fleet that might be sent against them. His views have been submitted to the house committee on expenditures in the war department.

The necessity for co-operation of mobile forces with the great forts is emphasized by the general. Large bodies of troops would be needed to prevent an enemy landing near the points the forts defend.

In the event of an invasion, General Wood believes the vicinity of the largest cities would be the scene of fighting. No remote coast district would be selected by an enemy to land, but rather the neighborhood of some vital point at which a quick blow might be struck.

SCOUTS' TENTS GOING UP.

Camping Grounds Being Prepared—Flag to Be Unfurled Tomorrow.

Workmen are busy at Robison park this afternoon pitching tents for the Boy Scout camp which will open tomorrow noon. Ten Tents are being put up and the camp is expected to be complete by tomorrow noon.

All scouts are expected to be present at the camp no later than 12:30 tomorrow afternoon, as the preliminary drills will take some little time. The handsome flag presented by the Rurode Dry Goods company will be unfurled to the breeze at 1:3 o'clock tomorrow, and fitting ceremonies will accompany the hoisting of the nation's emblem. Messrs. Jackson and Singleton are on the camping grounds and one of these two men will be with the boys during the entire encampment.

RUMOR IS NOT CONFIRMED.

South Bend, Ind., July 3.—There is no confirmation of rumors to the effect that the South Bend franchise will be transferred to Grand Rapids to prevent the Central league losing that territory. Both President Carson and Owner Annis are at Newark, Ohio. During the mast week the movements of Central league officials has been such as to warrant the announcement that the local club would be transferred and Annis was quoted as stating: "I will protect my Grand Rapids rights."

Beyond this he refused to talk. Developments may be expected within ten days.

SHIP STRIKE ENDED.

Liverpool, July 3.—The White Star Steamship company today agreed to terms of settlement and the shipping strike here is ended. Tom Mann, the strike leader, had announced earlier in the day that the strike was practically over, the only remaining difficulty being with the White Star line in regard to the interpretations of the purpose, "a recognition of the union." The men of the other companies are returning to work.

NAVAL OFFICER A SUICIDE.

Washington, July 3.—Lieut. Thomas L. Oseburn, of the United States navy, committed suicide on board the gunboat Tacoma yesterday at the New York navy yard by shooting. Details of the affair have not been received. He was born in Murphresboro, Ill., and senior engineer of the Tacoma.

BRIBER FOUND GUILTY.

Columbus, O., July 3.—The jury in the case of Rodney J. Diegle, sergeant-at-arms of the state senate, who has been on trial charged with aiding and abetting in the alleged bribery of State Senator L. R. Andrews, today at 12 o'clock returned its verdict, finding him guilty. The jury had been out since 4:30 last Friday afternoon.

DEMANDS A SWEEPING ARMY INVESTIGATION

JULIUS KAHN

Representative Julius Kahn, of California, wants Congress to make a general investigation of the United States army to see whether the money appropriated for its maintenance is being economically spent and whether the army is in condition to go to war.

NOT ONLY THE IRISH BULL.

House of Commons Oratory Furnishes Many Mixed Metaphors.

The ex-Irish attorney general's delightfully mixed metaphor at Bootle about the milch cow which distilled golden sovereigns is another proof that one should not use a metaphor unless one really means it, says the Manchester Guardian. The house of commons produces a rich crop of these weeds of oratory. When Mr. Bryce, our ambassador at Washington, was Irish secretary he amused the house by describing the Irish local government board as "a malignant fairy which steps in off its own bat."

It was an Irish member who, after pointing out that the Irish Land league was losing public support and had to practice economy, went on to say: "But sir, the well is running dry, and they think that by putting in the pruning knife they can bring more grist to the mill." Another Irish unionist described a concession to the nationalists as "the first stitch in the dismemberment of the empire."

Mr. Field, who has something of a reputation for this sort of thing, once said: "The right honorable gentleman shakes his head—and I'm sorry to hear it," and on another occasion, speaking of a bill relating to the shipping of cattle across the Irish sea, he begged his fellow members "not to look at the subject from a live stock point of view."

But even the most practiced speakers sin in this way at times. The present prime minister, usually counted among the most lucid and logical of debaters, once affirmed that "retribution is a thorny subject which requires delicate handling or it will tread on somebody's toes," and the leader of the unionist party once spoke of "an empty theater of unsympathetic auditors."

Even Mr. Gladstone, replying to an opponent in the house, who shook his head at some statement attributed to him: "No, no, it will not do for the honorable member to shake his head in the teeth of his own words."

Lord Curzon, another extremely lucid speaker, was once betrayed into saying: "Though we are not yet out of the wood, yet we have a good ship," and Sir W. Hart Dyke, in complimenting Mr. Lowther, said that he "had caught a big fish in his net—and went to the top of the tree for it." Lord Middleton, then Mr. Broderick, informed the house of commons, when it was settling down to discuss the affairs of the army, that "among the many jarring notes heard in this house this subject at least must be regarded as an oasis."

A VEGETARIAN FISH STORY.

Fred Vosen, who lives near the Valley mill, has the champion fish story of the season, says the Springfield Republican. He captured a carp at the Lee Water company's reservoir that weighed thirty-two pounds. Now, this part of the story is positively vouched for, but the surprising part follows. Mr. Vosen says he was fishing and heard on the shore what he at first supposed was a muskrat. On investigating it proved to be a big carp. He watched the fish for some minutes, and states positively that along the shore strawberries hung over the water, varying in distance from four to ten inches from the surface, and he was surprised to see the big fish bobbing his head out of the water and grabbing the berries. He watched him repeat the operation half a dozen times. He then tried his bait, and succeeded in hooking the fish, and had to shoot him before he could land him. Mr. Vosen was accompanied by several friends, who state that his story of the carp picking strawberries is true in every respect.

A Convenient Laundry Bag.

If there is one thing which pleases the housewife more than another it is to find a laundry bag which is large enough to be convenient, but not so large that it will be cumbersome. Baskets are impossible; they take up too much room, while the majority of bags are not sufficiently strong to hold the required amount of clothes. The one illustrated meets both requirements. It is made of strong cretonne, lined with heavy linen, and strong cords are attached, from which it hangs on the wall or door. It is pretty as well as useful, and will meet with the approval of every housewife.

Any woman who knows the least little bit about sewing can copy the bag illustrated at the expenditure of little time and expense. It need not be made so large, as small individual bags are used in many families. The number of yards of cretonne needed depends upon the size of the bag. No pattern is needed to make a bag of this kind, as it is made by sewing together two pieces of straight goods. It is pretty when decorated with small bows of ribbon.

Frills for the Feminine Wardrobe

Among the smart jabots recently seen in one of the exclusive French shops was one that looked as if it might have been cut from an exquisite handkerchief of duchesse lace. It was of the popular design extending out on one side and was unique because, instead of frills or pleatings, it carried out the flat rever idea. A handsome bar pin of turquoise and pearls was the finishing touch of elegance to this delightful little furbelow.

Another and more elaborate of the side effect was of two rows of point de Milan with a frill of fine hemstitched linen of cobweb consistency between. A soft quality of organdie or linen with insertion and edge of point de esprit footing either with scalloped or plain edge, is exceedingly smart for the tailored suit, as are also the various combinations of sheer linen and Irish crochet lace. One of the new designs in the latter materials is for the tailored waist and is cut very wide at the top, from which it is terraced down, step fashion, to the waist line. A plain edge of insertion mitered together at the corners is the only trimming, and the front pleat buttons with Irish crochet buttons.

Quite new are the flat revers of Irish, duchesse or odd linen lace, with a frill of Valenciennes about two inches wide around the edge. On a sheer embroidered batiste with a hint of palet pink in the flowers was a side frill of the same material as the waist, reaching well below the bust. The frill was edged with fine point de Paris lace in a wide round scallop showing a quaint design that might have been taken from some long forgotten treasure chest.

DEVOTE HOUR TO CHILDREN.

There should be some time during the day, even in the busiest household, an hour at least set apart in which the older members of the family should devote themselves wholly to the children. Little object lessons or stories containing practical knowledge told in an interesting way will be sure to hold their attention. The story of the gradual formation of the fruits, flowers and vegetables will delight them and will be eagerly looked forwar dto and always remembered.

TRIFLES FOR THE SUMMER HOME.

The woman who is clever with her needle can make any number of pretty trifles which will add a good deal to the attractiveness of her home. These will not require any great expenditure of time or money and a soft cushion, a dainty box or a pretty lamp shade not only add to the general tone of her home, but can be made during the idle moments of the day.

Two very pretty trifles are illustrated in the accompanying picture One is a hatpin holder, the other a cushion for pins, and both would look decidedly attractive ornamenting the dressing table.

To make the hatpin holder, cut cardboard in cone shape. This should be covered with flowered silk; any remnant in the house will do if it is fresh and clean. The portion above the center should be stuffed with cotton. Ribbon bows ornament the top and center, and a frill of lace falls from the rim. The cushion is covered with flowered silk and ornamented with a silken cord.

USE OF BROOM.

Few people handle a broom properly, although accustomed to its use every day of their lives. Always draw your broom by leaning it forward, because this allows the dirt to be moved along more gently and will not raise much dust. Most sweepers thrust the broom ahead of them in a sort of digging way, with the handle toward the sweeper. This breaks the broom, wears out the carpets, flirts up dust and makes the sweeping much more laborious.

Old parchments of all descriptions always fetch good prices. Dealers have invented a process for removing the ink, and eventually the cleaned parchments in many cases come back as "fine French kid gloves." The clippings remaining when the gloves are made are not wasted. Mixed with vellum and bits of leather they are boiled down for "size." The coarse shavings, with odds and ends of seal and other skins, are utilized for filling cheap tennis balls.—Scientific American.

We Have Decided That All Our Earlier Hats Shall Be Out of Our Store By a Certain Definite Time

Big Price Reductions Will Readily Accomplish This.

We advise coming early for the advantages of first selection. These prices will explain.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Eggs.

This is a dainty and nourishing luncheon dish. Select some firm, round tomatoes of equal size, cut a slice from the top of each and remove the seeds carefully. Then place the tomatoes on a sieve to drain for an hour. Coat the inside with a little warm butter and sprinkle in little chopped parsley. Break an egg into a cup and turn it into one of the tomatoes. Fill them all in the same way, replace the slice which was cut from the top of each, put them on a buttered tin and bake in a hot oven until the tomatoes are soft. Serve the tomatoes on round croutons of a suitable size and surround them with parsley sauce.

Sirloin Steak With Bananas.

Trim and wipe the steak, arrange in the broiler and broil over a clear fire, seasoning with salt and pepper when half done. Transfer to a hot platter, spread with a tablespoonful of butter, and sprinkle with one tablespoonful of freshly grated horseradish. Lay over all the bananas prepared as follows:

Take three large bananas, remove the skins and split lengthwise. Drop a large spoonful of butter in a hot frying pan and when smoking lay in the pieces of banana. Brown quickly on both sides and drain for a moment on paper.

MAKING THE HOME ATTRACTIVE.

Spending all the household allowance upon the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker and loading the dining room table with food for the body is not the best policy for the homemaker to pursue. She might much better pinch a bit from the dining room table to add interest to the living room or library table, where spreads for the mind and the heart are enjoyed just as much as food for the inner man.

How many men get up from the dinner table after dining heartily, sink into a comfortable chair in the living room and—stare blankly into space. There is nothing at hand to divert their mind from themselves when the housewife is busy clearing up, and consequently, after several minutes' meditation in which they become bored because of the sluggish condition of the mind, their fancy reaches out in search of entertainment and hits upon the club, the billiard or pool room, the nearest place where congenial souls are wont to gather.

Now, what might have been the result if some interesting current literature, magazines, periodicals or books had been at hand? The eye would have caught the literature, telegraphed the message to the brain, and unconsciously the desire to be amused would have urged the man to pick up something to read. He would be sure to find articles of interest, and before he realized the speed with which the clock travels it would be time to sound "lights out." The best of it all is that reading is a habit easily acquired, and once it takes possession of one grows steadily. It is a beneficial habit, too, making its happy victim more interesting both in the role of listener and conversationalist.

The table piled with magazines is a rest and a recreation for the busy housewife who can spend her moments in between duties keeping pace with the happenings of the world of affairs. This practice of filling in spare moments with items of worldly interest amounts to a storehouse of knowledge during the course of a year.

In choosing the literature for the living room table, select a variety of periodicals, fashion, home, fiction, educational, musical and theatrical, too, if these are if interest to any of the family readers.

THE DUKE'S MISTAKE

By Edgar Jepson

COPYRIGHT, 1910, BY THE PEARSON PUBLISHING CO.

"But how do you explain that dog?" said the Duke obstinately.

The Honorable John Ruffin could very well have explained that Wiggs had made the acquaintance of Pollyooly when she was impersonating Marion at Ricksborough Court. Instead of doing so, he cried indignantly: "I don't explain dogs. I explain the law. I'm a barrister, not a biologist—as you very well know, if you'd only stop to think. But I'll tell you what we'll do: we'll all go down to the kitchen; and Pollyooly—Mary Bride—shall grill you some bacon. That will quite convince you."

"I've no great fancy for bacon at six o'clock in the day," said the Duke gloomily. "I suppose I've made a mistake."

"You have—a bad mistake—and with a red Deeping, too. You know what the red Deepings are."

"A red Deeping?" said the Duke.

"Of course, Pollyooly is a red Deeping. That's why she's so like Marion. I told you she came from Muttle-Deeping; and you know how these old strains crop up among the village folk. Has she bitten anybody?" said the Honorable John Ruffin, with a sudden air of anxiety.

"She said she was going to bite Lucas—wish she had," said the Duke gloomily. "But she hadn't when she went upstairs."

"That's all right," said the Honorable John Ruffin, with an air of relief. "If a red Deeping bit me, I should have the bite cauterized at once. But never mind: I'll soothe her. Send for her."

The Duke rang the bell, and bade Lucas fetch her. She came into the room looking like an aggrieved, but very defiant, angel. At the sight of the Honorable John Ruffin, her face cleared; she crossed the room swiftly, and took her stand at his side. Then she scowled at the Duke.

The Duke cleared his throat, and with an air of extreme discomfort, said: "I—er—er—find I've made er—er—a mistake. It er—er—seems you aren't my daughter Marion after all."

"I told you so; and you wouldn't believe me. And so did Ronald," said Pollyooly, in a tone of triumph.

"It was er—er the likeness. You're very like my little girl."

"Only more intelligent looking—Ronald says so," said Pollyooly firmly.

"Perhaps—perhaps. And then the clothes you're wearing; and then er—er—finding you with my nephew——"

"I asked her to come out because she's so like Marion," Ronald interposed quickly.

"We seem somehow or other to be drifting away from the subject of compensation," said the Honorable John Ruffin, to the mantelpiece, in his most agreeable tone.

"Ah, yes; compensation," said the Duke, with a fresh air of gloom. "I suppose a couple of sovereigns——?"

"My dear Osterley—assault, abuse, and malicious imprisonment," said the Honorable John Ruffin, in a tone of protest.

"Well, five pounds," said the Duke, more gloomily.

Pollyooly puckered her brow thoughtfully: "I think it ought to be six," she said.

"All right—six," said the Duke; and he gave her a five-pound note and a sovereign.

Pollyooly thanked him with shining eyes.

"Oh, you have got off cheaply, Osterley. Think, if she'd been a few years older! You really must break yourself of this high-handed way of going on," said the Honorable John Ruffin.

The Duke growled.

The Honorable John Ruffin helped himself to some whiskey and soda and a cigar.

"May I have the car and take Mary home, uncle?" said Ronald.

The Duke growled an assent, and Pollyooly dropped a courtesy and bade him good evening, like the well-mannered child she was.

In the car Ronald said, "By Jove! It was fun! You did stand up to them; and John Ruffin did pull uncle's leg. He's a fair knock-out, John Ruffin is. I'd no idea. And you have all that money—six quid. What are you going to do with it?"

"Save it," said Pollyooly.

"It seems funny to save money," said Ronald.

"Yes; but when Mr. Ruffin's creditors are victorious and consign him to the deepest dungeon in Holloway Castle—he says they may—then the Lump and I will live on the money I've saved; and we shan't go to the Workhouse," said Pollyooly.

"Oh, it's like that—I see," said Ronald.

He kept the car in the King's Bench Walk while he went round with her to Mrs. Brown's to fetch the Lump; and he carried him up the stairs to the Honorable John Ruffin's chambers.

Then he put his arm 'round her neck and kissed her and said, "I'll come around for you to-morrow about one; and I'll bring that engagement ring."

"Oh, it will be nice!" said Pollyooly; and she kissed him.

As he ate his bacon, the Honorable John Ruffin watched Pollyooly, who was tidying up his sitting-room, with a considerable pleasure. He was not one on whom the possession of an angelic housekeeper is thrown away; and there was no gainsaying the fact, that, though red-headed, Pollyooly was the authentic angel child.

Presently he said, "I have come to the conclusion, Pollyooly, that since you have so many admirers, you can no longer be considered as Mrs. Bride."

"No, sir," said Pollyooly.

"Moreover, I don't think that Pollyooly is quite the name for a housekeeper. It is a position of dignity."

"Yes, sir," said Pollyooly.

"Therefore, I shall call you Miss Bride."

"Yes, sir," said Pollyooly.

"I'd made up my mind that you must be called Mrs. Bride. I shudder to think of what British Society will say to my having a Miss for a housekeeper. But I risk my reputation. With admirers swarming about, you must not be handicapped by the wedded prefix. I shall call you Miss Bride."

"Wasn't I rather young to be called 'Mrs.', sir?" said Pollyooly.

"Undoubtedly. But housekeepers are always 'Mrs.'—in the best families. Well, we have righted a wrong."

"Yes, sir," said Pollyooly.

The Honorable John Ruffin surveyed her thoughtfully; then he said in a somewhat rueful tone, "I feel that something ought to be done in the matter of your dress; but, alas, the exchequer (not the public Exchequer, of which I intend to be one day the Chancellor), but my own private exchequer, is empty."

Pollyooly looked down at her oft-washed blue print frock; and a faint flush mantled her clear, pale cheeks.

She said quickly: "I'm going to get a new dress, sir. Since you took to getting so many things for breakfast, which you don't eat, I'm saving lots of money. I have to spend ever such a little on food."

The Honorable John Ruffin shook his head; and a cloud of gloom spread over his thin, distinguished face: "I feel that I ought to provide you with some frocks, as the intelligent employers of angelic housekeepers always do. But my creditors howl so at my gates."

"They never get in now, sir," said Pollyooly, with some pride.

"Thanks to you, they get in no more. My morning reflections are no longer broken by the clamor of unworthy tradesmen. You have a really magnificent eye for a dun."

"Yes, sir," said Pollyooly, flushing with pleasure at the compliment; and she carried the armful of garments, with which in the course of his dressing the Honorable John Ruffin had bestrewn his sitting-room, into his bedroom.

The Honorable John Ruffin finished his breakfast and his Morning Post, and went to the Law Courts. Pollyooly finished his bedroom and that of Mr. Gedge-Tomkins, the barrister who occupied the set of rooms on the other side of the landing; and then she went up to the garret which the Honorable John Ruffin had handed over to her and her three-year-old brother, the Lump. She found that red-headed cherub playing sedately on the floor, and took him forth to the gardens on the Thames Embankment. She brought him back for his dinner; and, after it, with knitted brow and rather clumsily, she mended rents he had worn or torn in his clothes. Then they sallied forth once more to the gardens.

But as they went out of the Tudor Street gate of the Temple, the dulcet strains of a barrel-organ fell on their ears; and half-way up that little slum behind the King's Bench Walk, which is all that is left of the Stuarts' Alsatia, they saw the usual far-too-intelligent-to-work foreigner, grinding out the Opera of the Poor. Pollyooly had acquired a fine dignity since she had gone to live at 75 The King's Bench Walk as housekeeper to the Honorable John Ruffin; she had rather shunned the friends she had made in Alsatia when she had dwelt there with her Aunt Hannah. But the music was too much for her twelve years: she handed over the Lump to the care of a somewhat black Alsatian maiden, and joined the dancing children.

She danced lightly, with a natural grace and a delightful abandon. She danced with a spirit so entranced that she did not notice the presence of the big gentleman, with the sombrero hat and the mop of curls, till she stopped to take breath, and he was patting her on the back.

"What did I tell you, James?" he cried, to the slight, keen-eyed man who was with him. "I have always said that the fairies have migrated to the slums because only there can they find that atmosphere of the vivid joy of life in which alone they can live."

"Vivid joy of grandmother!" said Mr. James, unsympathetically.

"But here—here in Alsatia—we have seen a fairy dance," cried the big man.

"You idealists!" said Mr. James, in a scoffing tone.

"You moderns! You disgusting moderns!" cried the big man indignantly. "What's your name, little girl?"

"Pollyooly, sir," said Pollyooly, dropping a courtesy, like the well-mannered child she was; and she took the Lump's hand.

"Pollyooly, the Queen of the slum fairies," said the big man. "Well, I want a model for a set of fairy stories I'm illustrating; and you're the very model I want. Will you sit for me? You understand? I want to draw you."

HOME BROKEN UP BY POKER.

Manufacturer Claims Helpmeet Lost at Great American Game.

New York, July 3.—Charles Jacobs, a manufacturer of underclothes, sued by his wife, Carrie, for a separation, was ordered to pay her $100 a month and $250 counsel fees. She claimed her husband compelled her to move to Cedarhurst, Long Island, and then knocked her down because she wouldn't take in a boarder. He hasn't supported her since May, she said.

Jacobs replied that his wife "met a number of persons who claimed to be interested in so-called charitable societies, the chief object of which was to meet different days in the week for the alleged purpose of engaging in charitable card games, but whose real purpose was to gamble.

As a result, Jacobs said, his wife took no interest in her home and their household expense increased from $2,000 to $4,000 a year. Because of his wife's losses and because her house was mismanaged, Jacobs declared, he moved to Cedarhurst to get his wife away from the card games, and then she threatened to commit suicide and one day took a harmless powder and threw herself on the floor, saying she was dying.

Mrs. Jacobs asserted that all she knows about poker she learned from watching her husband and his friends and that when she was married the only game she could play was casino. The only time she lost large sums at poker was when she was playing at her husband's orders while he lost money in stock speculation.

LEADERS HERE FOR TWO HOLIDAY GAMES

WANTS A RETURN BATTLE AT HOME

Auburn Team Hot After the Shamrocks to Play One More.

SHAMROCKS WON OUT

Although that big crowd booked to come from Auburn to see the Shamrocks trounce the prides of DeKalb county dwindled down to a few hot-weather rooters the few did not forget that old kill-the-umpire stuff and most of them went home convinced that Cook gave them the worst of it and aching for a return battle on their own lot. Cook didn't do anything of the kind as he had only a few close decisions.

Manager Mart Cleary will accommodate the desire for revenge if he can arrange it for Auburn has a pretty fair ball team, but it failed to connect with Ross Hewes, who pulled over a four-to-nothing matinee in the first conflict with the up-state troupe.

Hewes deserved a shut-out but would never have gotten it if Seaman had run the bases intelligently. He led off with a hit in the ninth, went up on an out and when Bechtel skied to center he made no attempt to score on what would have been a sacrifice fly if he had gotten back on the bag and tried for home.

The first tally of the matinee grew out of Jack Smith's double and Mertz's single in the fourth and in the fifth Reynolds was overcome by a shower of base hits and heat combined with the loud pedal on the hits. Hoffer opened with a clean single to center, Hewes advanced him with a bunt and Long hit a fly to second that looked like it might be caught and Hoffer only moved one base on it. Walda sent two over with a double and Smith scored the captain with a single to left. Rainier went in then and stopped the scoring and allowed only one hit.

Hewes was hit four times and his support was excellent. Walda featured the game with some extremely fast work at short and Fehling made a great catch of the throw of Bauserman's grounder in the second. The game was clean and fast and was finished in an hour and a half. Heat told on the players but they stuck to the finish and the Auburn club will likely get another booking as it made a good showing. The score:

Packards	0	9	.000

At an informal meeting of the interested clubs with President J. V. Wilson, of the Fort Wayne Shop league, a game forfeited to the Van Arman's a couple of weeks ago was relinquished and this put the Pennsylvanias in the lead as the club won two in the week-end conflicts while the Van Arnam's drew a split.

Buck Benoy struck out eleven of the Wabash men in the first game and didn't allow a hit. Huser was hit only five times in the second. Werstein held the Van Arnam's to four hits in the first game but his support was not good and he was beaten. He started the second game but was succeeded by Ellenwood. The Packards failed to land either game and the club is still without a victory to its credit. The scores:

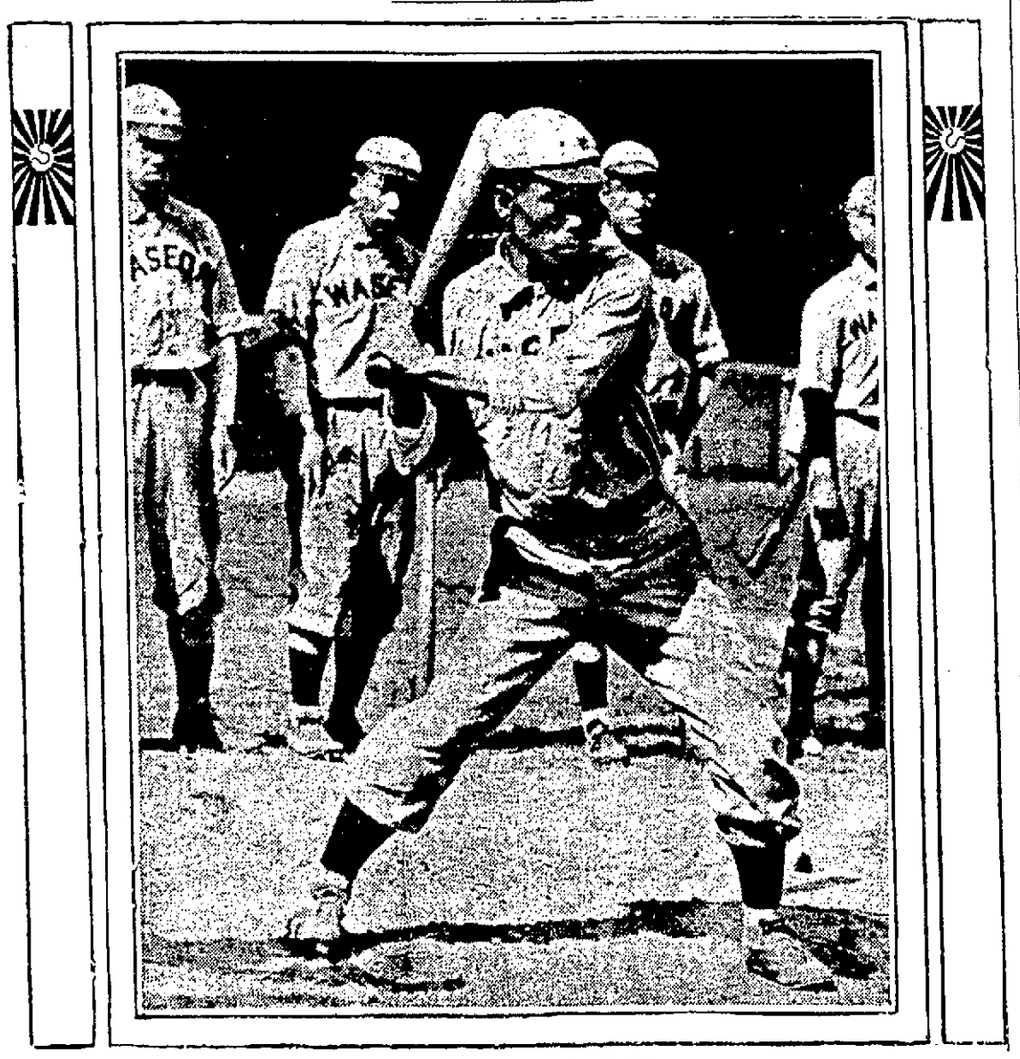
JAPANESE HITTING THE BALL IN GAMES HERE



ISIDA OF THE WASADAS, AT BAT.

Can the Japs play ball? Well, we should say so. The other day in New York the famous Waseda university nine, of Japan, trounced the Manhattan college nine of that city by a score of 10 to 3. The Japanese minister and a delegation from the office of the consulate general were present. The visitors are touring the country under the chaperonage of a special agent appointed by the government at Washington. They play baseball remarkably well, having beaten the best college teams in the west. The men are wonderful fielders and can hold their own with the best in this country, and since arriving in the United States have been batting well.

WARING BACK TO PLAY WITH TOTS

Harry Howell Talked of as Manager and Alberts Mentioned.

BEASLEY TO FARM

Terre Haute, Ind., July 3.—Ted Waring, suspended by Eddie Wheeler because he slept longer that the former manager of the Tots thought he should, has joined the local club again and will be first catcher and the deal with Harry Martin is probably off as both McDonough and Hargrave are on the local roster.

Waring went to his home at Independence, Kns., and says he is in condition to get back in the game and take his place behind the bat and stick until the close of the season. He and Wheeler could not agree and he didn't want to play under him.

In casting about for a new manager Harry Howell, the old pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, who is now playing with St. Paul, has been considered and if he will come to terms and can get away from Mike Kelley's club he can have the place.

In event he is unable to take the job it may go either to John Somerlott, who is now the field captain, or Frederick "Cy" Alberts, who is mentioned as one of the possibilities for the place. Claybourne Beasley, who was purchased from Vincennes early in the spring, is to go to the Hipkinsville, Ky., team for more seasoning and differences with Outfielder Bates have all been patched up and he is willing to play. He refused to get into his uniform on Saturday. Wheeler gave up his position as manager but he has some of a grievance and he says:

"I am going to take up the matter with the national commission at once," said the former Tot pilot as he walked out of ball headquarters. "I have a three year contract with Smith, besides a one-third interest in the team, and I don't see how he can get away with that. I stepped down and out rather than cause a split, but I am going to lay my troubles before the commission.

"I am going back to South Bend as soon as I can settle up my affairs in Terre Haute. I don't think I will play any more ball this season as I don't want to tie myself up with any club for the remainder of the year. However, I have four or five offers and may decide to accept one of them."

Waring says:

"I did not make the move against Wheeler because of the one game tossed away Friday, but because of the forty-one defeats which the club has suffered this season," was the statement of Louie D. this morning. "Further, Wheeler has not delivered as he should and the general demand that I secure a new leader caused me to ask Wheeler for his resignation. I have the right to release any man who does not fulfill his contract and position, and I am not alarmed at Wheeler's declaration that he will take up the three-year clause with the national commission. Lew Drill had the same sort of a contract, and when he was released for incompetency, he filed claims against the Terre Haute club. The commission ruled against him since he failed to live up to the terms of his contract."

LITTLE BITS OF SPORT CHATTER

It is suggested that Grand Rapids take the place of St. Paul in the American association. Fine chance.

Lewis who caught for Newark yesterday, is a student of the Indiana university and belongs to the Terre Haute club.

Napoleon Lajoie was able to get back in the game long enough Saturday to make the hit that beat Chicago.

"Rube" Benton, Cincinnati's $6,500 find, was all beaten up in a game at Chattanooga Saturday.

Manager Roy Montgomery is thinking of running over to Youngstown to see Bonesetter Reese. The manager's left leg is on the hummer and he thinks the bonesetter can help it.

Some of the Cleveland papers insist that it is either Fielder Jones or Harry Davis who will wear the managerial robe for the Naps next season. The players of the team are divided into factions over the two men.

Eddie Cicotte, the knuckle-ball pitcher of the Red Sox, has evidently satisfied John L. Taylor that he is willing to work hard for the success of the Boston team because there are no more reports of his going to be traded.

One of the Washington papers has started out to find out what is the matter with the Senators. The fans who have tried to explain the reason for the poor showing of the team to date all have the same opinion—that the team cannot play ball.

Alvah Holt has been sold to the Madison club, of the W. I. league. He has played with South Bend and Grand Rapids all year and has done everything that baseball versatility could command. He has played all the positions on the outfield and infield, caught and he pitched a few innings in Fort Wayne.

Malachi Kittredge says there must be a reorganization of the small leagues next season and he suggests a circuit made up of Fort Wayne, South Bend, Grand Rapids and Dayton, of the Central and Saginaw, Bay City, Lansing and another town from the Southern Michigan.

Jack Lelivelt is one of the few players who has changed his style at bat and made good with it. He is now standing at the plate like Crawford does and takes long swings with his arms only, which enables him to follow the ball better and with more success than he used to have.

The Cleveland club has four scouts out scouring the minors in addition to the work of President Bill Armour of the Toledo club, and Manager Walter McCreedie of the Portland club. Charlie Somers of the Naps has also been doing some scouting on his own account, and the old members of the Naps are beginning to fear for their jobs.

CHANCE MAY REST UP.

Chicago, Ill., July 3.—Manager Chance of the Cubs felt no serious effects yesterday and today from his collapse on the field of battle in Cincinnati just before Saturday's game. The Cub leader went directly to his north side residence, where he remained all day to avoid exposure to the intense heat.

While the ailing manager will not decide definitely his immediate future until he has had further conferences with his doctors, it is probable he will accept their advice and go to the country for a fortnight or three weeks, in which to get his mind off the game entirely.

The latest theory regarding Chance's condition is that the last blow he received from a pitched ball produced a slight blood clot, which would explain his inability to take active exercise without danger of collapse.

FROM THE BOX SCORES

Mickey McCarthy broke into the game for Pittsburg at St. Louis when Fred Clarke was hit by a pitched ball. Sallee shut out Pittsburg taking the third straight for the Cardinals and giving the club fourth place in the standing.

Bert Shotten scored one of the two runs the St. Louis got in a battle lost by the Browns to the White Sox.

Eddie Summers pitched steady ball for Detroit and won handily.

Schiltzer won the first game of the double header for Jimmy Burke but Cleon Webb fell down in the second and it went to Kansas City.

Stony McGlynn is credited with two victories over Columbus although he did not pitch either of them throughout. He went to the rescue in both.

McQuillan and Fromme were beaten badly by the Cubs and Cincinnati failed to hit either Reulbach or Richter hard.

Spend the Fourth at Robison Park.

STRATEGY FAILS IN SUNDAY GAME

Squeeze Ties Score and Two Men Strike Out to Draw Tie.

TIME LIMIT HURTS

Wheeling, W. Va., July 3.—Manager J. Casey injected a nice bit of strategy into the final game of the Stogie series and was forced to see his good generalship count for nothing by reason of the expiration of the time limit agreed upon at the opening of the conflict. Fort Wayne had to get out of Wheeling last night and for this reason it was agreed that the game would be called at 5:05 to allow the Billikens to make the trip.

This brought about a discouraging two to one loss after a bit of brilliant work in the ninth.

Fort Wayne was one run to the bad in the period and when Big Bill Clancy hit for two bases the astute pilot of the Billikens saw his chance to get an even break so he advanced the runner with a scarifice and sent Vandagrift in to bunt. The squeeze worked nicely and then Onslow and Whittaker were instructed to strike at the first three balls pitched for outs, which they did.

Wheeling started the last half and two men had been disposed of when the time expired and the game reverted to the close of the eighth and worked a great hardship on the Casey crowd. Wheeling scored in the second and kept Fort Wayne in check until the eighth. Eddie Justice bobbled on Linnerman's grounder after two had been retired and when Sager hit to right Young let the ball get by him and a score resulted.

Wilhelm forced over the run in the seventh that tied the score. Keener doubled and Beatty gave way to Wilhelm. Young advanced Keener with an out and Clancy was passed. Casey forced him at second, stole a bag and when Vandagrift and Onslow walked a run was forced over.

The score was tied in the first half of the ninth and two men were gone with one on when the game was called. In the eighth Jewell scored on his double and Linnerman's single and in the last half of the ninth Welscher hit for a bag and Wilhelm forced him at second. Lewis hit a fly to Young and was retired, but Jewell hit to center and two strikes and three balls had been called on Knisely when the time expired. The heat was intense and th players were greatly weakend by it. The score:

PENDRY STARTS A RUMOR.

Evansville, Ind., July 3.—According to a statement made here by Jack Pendry, manager of the Newark (O.) baseball team, formerly the Grand Rapids team, Secretary J. H. Farrell, of the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues, has ruled that unless Grand Rapids is reoccupied at once by the Central league he will declare it open to some other league. Pendry is authority for the statement that Bert Annis, of South Bend, is considering a transfer of the South Bend team to Grand Rapids. The Southern Michigan league is trying to get into Grand Rapids.

DOUBLE UP WITH LEAGUE LEADERS

Morning and Afternoor Games With the Dayton Battlers.

THE CENTRAL LEAGUE

Charles Punch Knoll led his chesty Vets into town today for three battles with Dr. James Casey's Billikens and two of them will be staged tomorrow, one at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and the other at 3 in the afternoon.

Naturally Mr. Knoll and his followers are certain of winning but Dr. Casey is ready for an argument. His team played good ball on the trip just ended and lost only because that break which is always against the road team operated against him as it generally does.

Each team will send its best hurlers against the other and Manager Casey has picked Valliere, Harden and Pfeffer in the order named while Summers, Wacker and Winchell have been picked by the chief of the Vets, but of course these selections are subject at all times to revision.

Knoll said this morning that he regards Fort Wayne as one of the hardest teams in the league to beat and for that reason he is putting his best men in. Both teams are in good shape for the three important battles. All receipts will be pooled and for that reason the courtesies extended to female patrons will be withdrawn at both games and they will pay the same prices as the men. While Tuesday is ladies day here as a rule the local management has nothing to say about tomorrow, as all receipts go into one pool and will be split among the eight clubs in the league.

Harry Corns may go to Wheeling to finish the season with Roy Montgomery and if he does the best wishes of all Fort Wayne fandom will go with him. He has been a faithful member of the Fort Wayne team and he will be a better pitcher with some other club. His desire to please his friends in Fort Wayne was the cause of his downfall. He has been too anxious and every slip he made got on his nerves.

He has given the best he has had to his club and there is plenty of good pitching left in him. His release was decided on Saturday and was given to him without any conditions so that he can make his future arrangements as he likes.

Zanesville with all its tin-horn spurts has shown that it will not support a Central league team out of its gate receipts. With Dayton as the attraction yesterday about 1,500 people paid to get in. The weather was good and in any sort of a live town the attendance would have been twice as large.

Fort Wayne, playing good ball and fighting for third place, played to 314, 318 and 353 people during the three grames there and had to take the guarantee every day. Things were worse at Wheeling. Friday the club played to 175, Saturday the receipts were big enough to give Fort Wayne 70 cents over the guarantee and yesterday the attendance was 375.

It cost Fort Wayne at least $400 to make the trip of six days without saying a word about salaries and $300 was taken in in guarantees.

Cuppy Groeschow came in with the Dayton club today and will be here during the series with Dayton. He gave satisfaction on his first trip and he was sent to repeat because he has gotten along better in Fort Wayne than any other member of the staff.

Mike Jacobs has quit and Eddie Coffey was sent down to Evansville to work in the Newark series there. Egan, of Detroit, has been selected to fill the vacancy and will probably work at Newark, where Dr. Carson can look him over.

WESTERN POET IS SUDDENLY CALLED

Eugene F. Ware, Formerly Pension Commisioner, Passes Away.

CALLED "IRONQUILL"

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 3.—Eugene F. Ware, former commissioner of pensions, but more noted as a poet and humorist, died here yesterday after a few minutes' illness. Mr. Ware, whose home was in Cherokee, Kas., was here on a visit.

Mr. Ware's greatest fame came to him under the name of "Ironquill." It was under this pen name that he published "The Washerwoman" and many other poems. It was not only as a poet that he was known. He was author of many books on law and also translated and edited many ancient legal books. His history of Iowa's troops in the civil war is accepted as authoritative.

Mr. Ware considered his poetry writing as a pleasure and although several of his books of verse went into several editions he refused to accept the profits on them, giving the proceeds to some worthy cause.

Besides being a poet, Mr. Ware was noted as a soldier, lawyer and political leader.

Born in Hartford, Conn.

Eugene F. Ware was born at Hartford, Conn., on May 29, 1841. He was the son of Hiram B. and Amanda M. Ware. He was a lineal descendant of Robert Ware, one of the early settlers of Massachusetts. He was educated at the public schools of Hartford, and when young removed with his parents to Burlington, Ia., there continuing his education in the public schools.

At the outbreak of the civil war in

EUGENE WARE—IRONQUILL

1861 he enlisted in the First Iowa Volunteer infantry. April 13, the same day Fort Sumter was fired on. He served throughout the entire war and was mustered out of service on June 1, 1866, with the rank of captain of cavalry, being at the time an aid-de-camp of Maj. Gen. G. M. Dodge, theretofore one of Gen. Sherman's corps commanders.

Mr. Ware removed to Fort Scott, Kas., in 1867, studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1871. He was a member of the state senate of Kansas two terms, was commissioner for Kansas at the celebration of the Yorktown centennial, and commissioner at large to the Washington centennial in New York city.

He was appointed federal commissioner of pensions in 1902 to succeed Henry Clay Evans. He occupied the position for two years.

Objected to Public Praise.

The humor which showed in all of Mr. Ware's writing also was present in his daily life. An instance of this is shown in a letter which he sent to a Topeka paper which was sounding his praises when he was appointed commissioner. The letter reads:

"Will you kindly omit in your paper all further allusions to me? I am being over-praised. In a little while, by the law of compensation, I will be overblamed. Glorification notices will nauseate my friends and provoke my enemies.

"If I should be confirmed and then accept, and should enter upon my duties as commissioner of pensions, I will be handicapped by these contending emotions.

"And when, at last, my exterior shall decorate the fence, as it certainly must in time, my friends will have no incentive to weep and my enemies will have no restraint upon their levity. Therefore, please don't give them any more."

Turns Tables on Aids.

Even in his official life Mr. Ware found a chance to have plenty of kindly joking. When he was retiring from the pension office he called the twelve division chiefs into his private office.

"Gentlemen," Mr. Ware said, waving his hand toward his desk, on which were twelve round silver salvers, and each bearing a silver bowl, "I wish to present to each one of you a little token of my appreciation of your loyal support and unswerving allegiance to me in my difficult task of administering the affairs of this branch of the government. Help yourselves."

The twelve chiefs advanced in good order, and each one took a bowl and a plate.

Finally the veteran of them all, holding his bowl and plate carefully in front of him, tried to tell the commissioner how much his gift was appreciated.

"Whenever I eat soup out of this beautiful bowl," he said, "I shall think of you as the most efficient commissioner of pensions I ever served under."

A second thanked him for "this beautiful salad dish," and a third for "this beautiful preserve jar."

"Gentlemen," he replied, "when you drink your morning cup of coffee out of your cups make a firm resolve to make that particular day's work more useful to yourselves and to the government than any day in the past."

BUFFALO BILL WILL NOT PARADE

He Will Confine Himself to Giving a Perfect Performance.

The announcement is made that Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East will not give a street parade on the day of exhibiting in this city. There are several reasons for this decision, but the principal one is found in the fact that horses and men give an improved performance when they are not compelled to parade in the hot sun or disagreeable rain for a couple of hours. It is furthermore advanced that delays in transportating an organization of the magnitude of the exhibition often prevent the organization from arriving in town until late, and the work of transferring the paraphernalia to the show grounds requires the united forces of the company in order that the afternoon performance may not be delayed. It would seem, in that event, that it would be more advisable to care for a proper presentation of the exhibition rather than to divide the forces into parade groups and take them away from the places where they are most needed. By eliminating the street cavalcade the riding stock and performers are fresh for their important duty of giving a high-class entertainment, enlisting the best of their ability and returning to the public the full benefit of their talents, to which they are entitled. Still another factor which has been considered by the management is the inconvenience of the merchants of the various cities visited by Col. Cody and his cohorts. Street traffic is delayed and business generally is discommoded and upset. Municipal governments have, in many cases, recognized this fact by either refusing to give licenses for parades or by making the tax prohibitive. Many other reasons could be advanced, but it seems the best established fact that the public is more entitled to a perfect performance than they are to witness a street pageant. It must be remembered, however, that the movement of the paraphernalia of the Wild West exhibition from the train to the grounds will, of itself, constitute a parade of more interest than any other organization can offer. It will constitute a sight of much interest and will convince the public that a parade, such as usually has been featured with exhibitions of this class and magnitude, is unnecessary. When the weather permits Buffalo Bill will drive through the principal streets preceding the performance to convince the public, by his appearance, that the old scout is still in evidence ready to appear in the saddle twice daily, and at every performance, and regretfully bids his patrons here good-bye!

Never leave home on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed and cannot be obtained when on board the cars. For sale by all dealers.

The confectionary store of A. C. Aurentz will be closed from 12:30 until 6 on July 4. 1-2t

Liggett, superintedent employes' saving fund.

The following appointments, with headquarters in Ohio, are announced: J. T. Wellock, auditor, Akron; W. B. Wood, superintendent, Akron; Paul Jones, superintendent, Zanesville; F. E. All other officers, agents and employes of the two constituent companies will be continued in their present positions until further orders.

F. E. Sawyer, the general freight agent, was freight agent at Fort Wayne for the Pennsylvania two or three years, going from this city to Indianapolis and thence to Columbus. He is well known in railway, industrial and business circles in this city and his friends will be pleased to hear of his promotion.

GOOD TIMES FOR FARMERS.

E. T. Wood Says Crops Are Abundant.

E. T. Wood, division freight agent of the Pennsylvania, who keeps well informed concerning the crop conditions in the territory over which he has jurisdiction in a freight business way, believes that crops this year on the whole will exceed those of the preceding year. "Wheat is about the average," Mr. Wood said. "There was some bad seed sown last fall and in some localities drought early in the spring damaged the growing grain, but taken as a whole the crop is fairly good. And corn prospects are above the average, while hay and other farm crops are better than usual." Mr. Wood expects traffic to take on greater activity as a result of the bounteous crops as soon as threshing commences.

JAMES M'CREA IN CITY.

Head of the Great Pennsylvania Spends Few Minutes Here.

President James McCrea, Vice Presidents Joseph Wood and J. J. Turner and General Manager G. L. Peck, of the Pennsylvania, passed through the city between 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon on a special train, bound for Chicago. Their train stopped here a few minutes, during which time the general officers conversed on matters of business with the division officials, the chief topic being track elevation.

T. N. ELY GOES ON RETIRED LIST

T. N. Ely, chief of motive power of the Pennsylvania lines, both east and west of Pittsburg, retired from railway work on July 1, and his position was abolished. A. W. Gibbs, general superintendent of motive power of lines east of Pittsburg, was appointed chief mechanical engineer, succeeding to the duties of Mr. Ely. R. N. Durborow, superintendent of motive power of the Eastern Pennsylvania division, at Altoona, Pa., was appointed general superintendent of motive power of the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie. Robert K. Reading, superintendent of motive power of the Buffalo and Allegheny Valley division at Buffalo, N. Y., succeeded Mr. Durborow, and William Elmer, jr., master mechanic of the Pittsburg division, succeeded Mr. Reading.

WENT TO MEET CONWAY.

L. D. Redding, president of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, went to Lafayette yesterday on invitation of H. J. Conway, acting national secretary of the Retail Clerks' Protective association, to discuss Fort Wayne's claim for favor in locating the headquarters of the national organization of the clerks. The result of the visit is problematical, Mr. Redding being unable to state just what action the clerks' officials would take in the matter. However, Fort Wayne must contribute at least $2,500 towards the expense of establishing the offices here before the matter will be considered at all. Because of its geographical position and its prominence in the labor work, Fort Wayne is said to be looked upon with favor. Lafayette is said to have pledged $3,000.

ENTERTAINED ELECTRO BAND.

Commandant D. B. Kehler, of the soldiers' home at Lafayette, was host at dinner to the Electro-Technic band last evening. Mr. Kehler formerly resided in Fort Wayne and is personally acquainted with most of the members of this musical organization. After dinner the band gave a half-hour concert at the home, playing old army tunes for the benefit of the veterans who were too feeble to get down to the Trail at the foot of the hill, where the Electro-Technic band gave an afternoon and evening concert. The veterans were highly pleased with the concert, many of them shedding tears as the band played old airs they sang in the stirring times of nearly a half century ago. There were twenty-eight pieces in the band.

TO A WAGE SCALE MEETING.

Fred W. Hornberger, of the Fort Wayne Iron warks and a member of the wage scale committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, left today for Cambridge Springs, where next Wednesday the committee will meet the representatives of the Western Bar association, of which the Fort Wayne rolling mills is a member, to discuss a wage scale for 1911-1912. He attended a similar meeting last week, at which the Republic Steel company and the Amalgamated association signed a wage scale, in main features like that which prevailed the past year.

BOUGHT ANOTHER RAILROAD.

The Frisco has acquired the Louisiana Southern railway, which extends from New Orleans along the Mississippi to Bellaire, about thirty miles, with a sixteen-mile branch to Shell Beach on Lake Borgne. This line serves exclusively some of the large industries along the river, particularly sugar factories, and traverses as rich a country as can be found in the Mississippi valley. Besides, the Louisiana Southern railway has a continuous river front from New Orleans to Bellaire, with the advantage of water and rail transportation combined.

EXPECT SPECIAL TRAIN.

A. J. Morell and J. H. Hobrock, members of the committee on transportation for the Elks on their trip to Atlantic City, are greatly encouraged by the number of applications for transportation and have renewed their efforts with a view of having a special train for the Fort Wayne delegation. They have extended a general invitation, hoping to get enough outside the ranks of the Elks to warrant a special. It will leave as a second section of Pennsylvania train No. 8, Saturday evening, July 8.

WRECK AT ORRVILLE.

A freight wreck on the Pennsylvania at Orrville, Ohio, about 200 miles east of Fort Wayne, Saturday night blocked the road completely for several hours and delayed most of the passenger trains. The wreck was caused by one train not getting in the clear for another and was what railroad men call a "side-swipe" accident. Orrville is on the eastern division and the details of the accident were not reported here, but it is understood that no one was hurt.

CANNOT PAY CROSSING MEN.

Cities cannot be made to pay the wages of a railroad-crossing watchman, either in whole or part. This was decided by the supreme court of Ohio Saturday in the case of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company against the City of Newark for $1,440, the share of the municipality for paying a watchman. The contract was made by ordinance, which was afterward repealed, and the defense of the city was that it had no right constitutionally to enter into such an agreement.

HAD A FISH DINNER.

Welcome cottage, at Lake James, was the scene of a fish dinner party and some other social functions Saturday night and Sunday. The hosts were Maurice Stein, James Carman, Henry Eder and Harry Silverstein, who went to the lake a week ago, and the guests were Henry Eagles, Walter Brunet, Russell Pierrot and Charles Schields, of the Fort Wayne Electric works. All returned home last night and resumed work this morning. All are employed at the "Electric."

STRUCK BY MAIL CRANE.

Passenger Engineer Edward C. Irish of the Wabash, well-known in Fort Wayne railway circles, is in the hospital at Decur, suffering severely from injuries sustained by being struck by a mail crane at one of the small stations last Saturday. He was on train No. 9 and was looking out of the cab window when the accident happened. His condition is said to be not very serious.

WILL MAKE ENGINE TESTS.

The Pennsylvania dymometer car will be here the latter part of this week to make some tests with engines 7514 and 9999. These will be efficiency tests to get at the tractive and other powers of the engines and the relative amount of fuel consumed. No. 7514 was recently equipped with a superheater.

MOVING TO CHICAGO.

E. F. Thomson, private secretary to G. G. Yeomans, assistant to President F. A. Delano, who came here last week to assist in packing his household goods, shipped them to Chicago today and Mr. and Mrs. Thomson and baby will go there tomorrow to reside. They have leased a house on Sixtysecond street, near Jackson park.

TO VISIT NATIVE COUNTRY.

James O'Conner, fireman at the Pennsylvania power station, left yesterday for New York, from whence he will sail in a few days for Ireland, where he expects to spend the summer and return here in the fall. Mr. O'Conner has been here about two years.

OVERCOME BY HEAT.

A message delivered at the Pennsylvania boiler shop this morning was to the effect that Boilermaker F. W. Shaffer was overcome by heat yesterday and would not be ready to work for a few days. His condition is not considered serious.

NEW MEN AT 'LIGHTS.

B. J. Wallace, Randolph Lueders, A. K. Hickman and F. E. Hickman took positions at the Fort Wayne Electric works this morning. These works are quite busy and additions are being made from time to time to the force of the various departments.

WILL GO EAST ON BUSINESS.

R. J. Fisher will leave Wednesday for a tour of the leading railway centers in the interest of the Bass Foundry and Machine works. Among the places to be visited are New York and Baltimore.

WILL BRING FATHER HERE.

George Selbt, a springmaker at the Pennsylvania shops, has gone to Buffalo, N. Y., for a visit. Upon his return he will be accompanied by his aged father, who is quite feeble and who will remain here a few weeks.

J. P. Herring, train announcer at the Pennsylvania depot, is on duty again, after a two months' absence. He had a cataract removed from his right eye and today was the first the oculist would allow him to work.

The semi-annual inventory of the Wabash was completed at noon Saturday and today Fred Bates, the auditor, is here going over the inventory sheet with Division Storekeeper H. W. Hurst.

MAINE'S DECK A TANGLED MASS OF STEEL AND IRON.

ENGINE ROOM SUPERSTRUCTURE OF THE OLD MAINE, PORT SIDE, SHOWING CONDITION OF DECK ABOVE PETTY OFFICERS' MESS AND AFTER TURRET. PHOTOGRAPHED JUNE 23

How complete and terrible the destruction was on board the Maine is shown by the accompanying photograph, taken after the water in the cofferdam had been lowered to a point to permit the exposure. The tangle of iron and steel is at the point where a rent was discovered clear across the ship, which it is believed will enable the wreckers to separate the two parts and perhaps float out one of them. It is a view of the engine room superstructure on the port side. The petty officers' mess and after turret were below the wreckage shown, and what was left of the conning tower was found here, where it had plunged into the engine room.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, July 3.—Prices fell about abruptly in the opening transactions in stocks today. Lehigh Valley, which was affected by the adverse decision of the interstate commerce commission in the coal rate case, declined 1¾. Losses of 1¼ were sustained by Great Northern preferred. Canadian Pacific and General Electric, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Reading, Chesapeake and Ohio, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie and Amalgamated Copper receded a point each and almost all of the other active shares lost large fractions.

Canadian Pacific exhibited further weakness, touching 239 and then rallied a point. The rest of the list was sluggish and made but little recovery. Crop news seemed to be about the only influence affecting the market, the blistering heat in the grain regions raising fresh misgivings. Pressed Steel Car advanced a point.

Except for the Erie issues which received staunch support, the market was weak during the forenoon. The decline in London gave a heavy tone to the opening which the market seemed to be unable to throw off. The intense heat and the approach of a holiday kept away operators and trading was dull after the first few minutes. Reports of further damage to crops from the heat and the decision against the Lehigh Valley in the coal rate case exercised a depressing effect. Declines were extended late in the forenoon. Losses ran between 1 and 2 points for most of the representative stocks with the Hill and Harriman issues weakest. Bonds were easier.

The government report on cotton failed to influence stocks although the condition of the crop was determined to be better than a week ago. Upon the completion of the London selling which amounted to 20,000 shares prices hardened a slight fraction but the demand was largely from the short interest.

Dullness was the chief characteristic of the afternoon market. Traders were not inclined to take on stocks over the holiday and the shorts preferred to stand their ground in view of the unfromally crop reports.

The market closed steady. Prices scarcely moved as the session drew to a close. Final figures showed losses for the usual market leaders of 1 to 1½.

TRUST DECISION APPLIED.

United Cigar Stores Company Prevented From Opening Store.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 3.—By appealing to the department of justice Clifton M. Rawlins, druggist, has succeeded in having the record decision of the United States supreme court in the tobacco case brought to bear on the United Cigar Stores company and the opening of two new stores by that concern here has been abandoned. This is said to be the first time the decision has been put into effect.

The United company was fitting up a store near Mr. Rawlins' drug store. He pointed out to Attorney General Wickersham that the decision stated that the American Tobacco company or its subsidiaries were not to injure their business. Mr. Wickersham notified the company that the decision would be violated in the event the store was opened and its counsel replied that it would abide by the decision and not open new stores. Mr. Wickersham communicated this information to United States Attorney Denman here. About the same time activities in the United store and another which was being fitted up, ceased.

TOLAN MAKES FIRST REPORT.

Finds Conditions Better Than He Had Expected Them to Be.

City Sealer Barry Tolan found conditions better than he had expected during his first month of work and of twenty-nine liquor dealers, two express companies, thirteen meat dealers, fourteen general stores, four seed stores, five jobbers, two peddlers, one ice dealer, seven hardware stores, ninety-one market gardeners, thirty-one groceries, twelve drug stores, three commission houses and twenty-one confectioners visited he was forced to reject forty-four measures, seventeen scales and three weights.

In most instances he found dealers were selling under the belief that their scales and measures were right and he experienced no trouble with the dealers, whom he found ready to make such corrections as the law requires. New scales and measures have been secured to replace those rejected.
